WE NOMINATE

William Bradford Craig, an "educator in four dimensions" — local, state, national and international — who at the time of year when the parents of college students, or of prospective college freshmen, are looking beyond "Christmas bills" to the harsh realities of underwriting the ever-rising cost of their children's higher education has come forward with "Plain Talk on Financing a College Education." Writing in the current issue of "University," Princeton University's slickly-edited Quarterly, Craig notes that the cost of attending a private university has doubled in the past 15 years but then emphasizes that no promising student "should be deterred from applying to the college of his choice because of a lack of resources."

In characteristically straightforward fashion, the 53-year old Craig, Director of Student Services at Princeton and nationally known consultant to student aid programs, ticks off how colleges and universities now utilize combinations of scholarship grants, loans from government and private sources, and employment opportunities in helping those with a demonstrated need for dollar support. For instance, Princeton undergraduates, once they are enrolled, are expected to make important contributions to college costs by working during both summer holidays and the academic year, averaging savings of $500 per summer and earning some $100 during the nine-month school year.

To take a typical case, Craig, the father of two sons, points out that the year's budget for a freshman at Princeton, where the staggering student-aid total for 1968-69 stands at some $3,200,000, is $3,900. "Let's say that his family can provide $900 of this. The student can net $400 from summer work, $300 from working during the academic year, and can borrow $300. That makes up his $1,000 contribution. Assuming he was getting no aid in the form of scholarships from other sources, he would then need $2,000 from Princeton scholarship funds to balance out his budget."

Craig, in addition to working annually with some 1,600 University undergraduates in his West College offices, gains added insights into American "educational crises" as president of the long-working, battle-scarred Board of Education in West Windsor Township and as chairman of the Board of Trustees of the African Scholarship Program of American Universities. In the latter capacity Craig in the past six years has made three visits to Africa to strengthen, and to "check out," a pioneering venture which over the past decade has brought nearly 1,500 African young people to 250 American colleges and universities and is today confronted with even greater challenges.

A native of Short Hills, N. J., and a past president of the Princeton Class of 1938, Craig did his first teaching, prior to entering the Armed Forces, at The Kent School, Connecticut and, following V J Day, taught English and Mathematics and coached three sports at the Fountain Valley School, Colorado. During World War II, while serving with the 43d Infantry Division in the Solomon Islands, New Guinea and the Philippines and rising to the rank of major in the Field Artillery, he compiled a brilliant combat record, earning the Distinguished Service Cross as well as the Purple Heart and Bronze Star Medals.

For urging young men and women of promise to apply to colleges "for which they are academically equipped and in which they will be at home;" for insisting that education in the United States must receive increased support from all sources; for his concern for the well-being and continuing development of education in this area; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

THE NUTCRACKER AND HIS LADY: The fairy-tale prince who rescues the lovely lady is a story as old as enchantment itself. Here is the gallant Nutcracker (David Rubin) and his charming lady (Sharin Terry) in a scene from "The Nutcracker," to be given at McCarter Theatre this weekend by the Princeton Regional Ballet as a Christmas present to Princeton. "WEDNESDAYS"

Start January 8. All of Princeton's public schools will close for the afternoon on Wednesday, January 8, as the controversial "Wednesday" program begins.

Starting that Wednesday, the schools will be closed every Wednesday afternoon through the spring semester for a new and experimental program in community participation and professional improvement.

The Wednesday Council consisting of teachers who are planning the program, hopes that teachers and staff will hone their professional skills to a nice sharpness and deepen their philosophic outlook, and that residents of the Princeton community will plunge in and contribute their own ideas about the way Princeton's schools could be run.

You're Invited. The community part of "Wednesdays" is the system of 40 weekly workshops, each with a volunteer representative from the town who will sit in with teachers, members of the administrative staff of the school system, school secretaries, cafeteria workers, janitors.

So far, according to Dr. Constance Vieland of the Wednesday Council, about 30 townspeople have volunteered. She expects to have 40 by the time the Wednesday program begins on January 8.

Children to Be Active. Meanwhile, what about the kids on Wednesdays?

The YMCA is opening its swimming pool to all, at a 50c fee—no "Y" membership required—and there will be a "Y" drop-in lounge for teenagers.

The Youth Center will be open, and students will be encouraged to plan the activities they want. The Junior Museum will be open, too.

Dance classes at reduced fees will be given in the early afternoon by the Princeton Ballet Society, and the Aparri School will hold early afternoon dance classes, if there is enough demand.

A group class in rhythm and music for children 5 to 7 years old, will be given by Mrs. Ruth Sanborn, and the New School for Music will have classes for beginners.

Singer Sewing Machines will conduct a 1:30 p.m. class for high school students and the Princeton Art Association with the University League Museum Guides will conduct a 10-week course in art study—no fee — for boys and girls in Middle School and Princeton High School.

The Princeton Playhouse will show films especially suited for young people, at the standard 50c admission.

But I Have A Job. The people most affected by the Wednesday afternoon program are, of course, the working mothers.

Mrs. John Cleaver and Mrs. Andrew Bruce of the Friends of Public Education in Princeton, were approached by the Wednesday Council to block out a program for working mothers who are unable to make other arrangements.

Here's the plan: Youngsters in grades one through five (no kindergarteners) will be bused to John Witherspoon School from Johnson Park, Riverside and Littlebrook for an afternoon which lasts from 1 until 2:40.

After that they will either walk home (crossing guards will be on duty) or get home in some way arranged by the parent.

EARLY DEADLINES SET

Because of the holiday schedule for the next two weeks, TOWN TOPICS deadline for display advertising will be Friday, December 20 and 27, at 5 p.m. Classified ads must be cancelled by that time, but new classified advertising will be accepted until Monday at 5 p.m. News stories and pictures should be submitted as early as possible.

At the school, about 100 boys and girls (70 have already signed up) will spend the afternoon with the dozen volunteers working with Mrs. Cleaver and Mrs. Bruce.

A volunteer gym teacher—Mrs. Rebecca Mackey — is going to have a games program, assisted by Marcia Smith, a student at Princeton High.

Marcia will recruit aides among her colleagues at the high school and at the Youth Center, and Mrs. Mackey will teach them all how to lead children in games.

Mrs. John Sapoch will give a puppet show and maybe show children how to make puppets. . . . Mrs. George Goodman and Mrs. Leila Cannon will gather all the young actors and actresses in a drama group. . . . Mrs. Brock Brower will teach needlework to both girls and boys.

On that first Wednesday at John Witherspoon, there will be movies (from the Princeton Public Library collection)

An Aide Pays A Call. To make sure that working mothers are aware of the Wednesday program, the Council of teachers has retained Mrs. Ann Thomas as its "Community Aide."

Working with Dr. Charles Huchet and Mrs. Jean Logan of the schools' Special Services, ("we work hand in hand," Mrs. Thomas smiles), the new Community Aide is visiting working mothers in the evenings and on weekends. She has already called on about 75, and has about that many more to go.

"One parent I visited suggested a fine program," Mrs. Thomas says. "She'd like to see the Valley Road School shop open for boys who like to build models."

Objections. At the moment, the working-mother problem seems to be uppermost in the thoughts of people who are not in favor of the Wednesday concept. (See "Mailbox," page 27.)

"I'd say that three quarters of the working mothers I talk to don't like it," estimates Mrs. Thomas. "But when I explain that there will be activities to keep the children occupied, they change their minds and say, 'Oh, well then, it's all right'."

At Tuesday's school board meeting, a member of the audience referred to the John Witherspoon plan, and told the board, "If I were a working mother and knew my kid would have to walk home from John Witherspoon no matter where I lived, I wouldn't sign up."

Fund Grows, But Needs Your Help

(From the 1968 TOWN TOPICS Christmas Appeal)

MR. AND MRS. H.

"Bitter and cruel words filled the lives of Mr. and Mrs. H. who felt that their world was collapsing around them. Although Mrs. H. was physically and emotionally exhausted by the 24-hour care required by their frightfully handicapped 6-year old son, they could not bring themselves to accept the institutionalization of their defective child, the youngest of three. They wanted to keep their marriage but, in the face of grinding worry, had all but forgotten their earlier satisfactions and happiness. Added to this was the understandable resentment of the two older youngsters who sensed that their mother's love and energies were reserved for their retarded brother alone. The positive relationship developed with the caseworker is enabling Mr. and Mrs. H. to grasp the importance of placement for their child and to combat the tensions which threatened to warp the lives of two completely normal children."

Assistance at Christmas, when despair can be greater than at any other time of year, is a definite aim of the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund, but its primary intent is to provide lasting help for those on whose behalf the appeal was issued. The amount currently at hand is $2,238.50, but further contributions will assure aid for months to come.

Checks should be made payable to The TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund and mailed to P.O. Box 664, Princeton, N.J. TOWN TOPICS meets all costs of administering the Fund — every penny given goes to aid those listed in the appeal.

Another woman in the audience suggested that car-pools to get the youngsters home from John Witherspoon after the program, might be a project for volunteers, like arts and crafts or music.

Dr. Harvey Rothberg, board member, urged members of the Wednesday Council to solve this transportation problem. "The Wednesday program shouldn't succeed or fail on this — it should be judged by other considerations," he said.

"I haven't noticed any working mothers coming to these board meetings to complain," observed another member of the audience.

The width of community-wide participation has been another criticism. "When I invite working mothers to participate in one of the 40 workshops," Mrs. Thomas says, "they say 'how can I when I work?' I tell them we'd love to have them drop in when they can, but they say they can't take time off."

Working women have told Mrs. Thomas they would like more evening school activities, including parent conferences. Many have suggested evening coffee hours, social evenings when they could sit and talk about their children because "P.T.A. meetings are so formal."

Dr. McPherson revealed at the board meeting that there is already talk about a Wednesday night program. "The whole program is going to evolve and change, like any other," he predicted. "We'd like to hear specific problems and suggestions from people."

"I find parents who approve of the Wednesday program," Mrs. Thomas explains. "They say it will give their children a chance to choose their own activities for a change!"

Thomas Moore, vice-president of the school board, urged on Tuesday night, "Let's give the Wednesday program a break!"

SLOW DOWN!

Valley Road Speed Lowered. Speed limits on Valley Road have been lowered.

The new limit will be 35 m.p.h. from Witherspoon through to Harrision, except for a 25 m.p.h. zone next to Valley Road School during the hours when children are going to and from school and during their recess. The 35 m.p.h. zone was formerly 50.

Township Committee passed the new regulations Monday night. The state's Director of Motor Vehicles has approved.

William Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue, protested that even 35 was too fast. Committee, seconded by Police Lieutenant Richard Steiner, said 35 is what the state would approve after its surveys.

Dogs in 1969. Dogs will have their day after January 1, announced Committeeman William Wilson. He likes the idea of after-dark restraint on dogs, and has suggested a 6 p.m.-9 a.m. confinement (8 p.m. to 9 a.m. during Daylight Saving months).

"Everybody on the new, 1969 Committee has agreed that we ought to have a kind of 'town meeting' on dogs shortly after January 1," Mr. Wilson said. "That way, we could have the broadest possible discussion with everyone who's interested."

After that meeting, Mr. Wilson expects that "one or more" dog ordinances will be introduced, followed by the usual legal public hearings.

An after-dark-only restriction, Mr. Wilson believes, would be less onerous than total restraint, would keep dogs from following children to school in the mornings and would keep owners who are going away overnight, from turning dogs loose.

Mr. Wilson also proposes stiffer penalties: the fine increased from $25 to $100 maximum and the imprisonment from 30 to 90 days. The price of ransoming a dog taken into custody would be increased from $2 to $15. The biting margin would be reduced from three bites to two. Females in heat could only be kept in the Township in a kennel or hospital. At present, they can be kept on the owner's property.

Civil Rights. Committee unanimously passed its resolution setting up Princeton's Joint Commission on Civil Rights. The Borough took its action last week. The five Township members of the ten-member Commission will be appointed by the new mayor, John D. Wallace, "sometime after January 1," Mr. Wallace said.

In reply to a question from a representative of the League of Women Voters, Mr. Wilson said the new Commission will be financed through the general administrative budget, rather than through any specific, detailed appropriation.

The Township's action was commended by the League, Seymour Alpert for PAHR and by Mr. Cherry.

Sidewalks. Township property-owners will now be required to pay the entire cost of repairing sidewalks in front of their home unless the damage has been caused by a Township-owned tree.

This tree-root problem had caused a snag in passage of the ordinance two weeks ago and it was tabled after public hearing. Mr. Wallace said Monday night that he had conferred with those property-owners who objected to paying for repairs caused by Township trees. They would be content, Mr. Wallace stated, if the ordinance were amended so that home-owners wouldn't have to pay if Township trees were responsible.

That sounded fine to everyone except Mayor Schafer who voted against the ordinance, even as amended, because he felt it was unfair to property owners.

After passage of the ordinance, Mr. Cherry rose from the audience and said that was all very well, but now who was going to pay for sidewalks damaged by Township trees?

Attorney Gordon Griffin was hastily dispatched to do some repair on the sidewalk ordinance and later in the evening, he presented amendments in three places that take care of all trees and tree-roots forevermore. (The Township will foot the bill).

On this amendment, Mr. Wilson joined Schafer in the "no" vote and the amendment skinned by, 3-2.

Committee also:

• Appointed David Crom well to the Police Department as of January 1, 1969. He had been named Probationary Officer nn January 1 of this

SCHOOL BUDGET SETTLED

Figures Revised. Win a little, lose a little, "the net impact is good." The revised school budget shows a tax levy increase of only 9.9%, instead of the 10.2% estimated last month.

But the budget as a whole, with a net increase of 7.9%, which is 1.2% higher than the estimated budget presented by the school board last month.

The school board satisfied a state requirement and adopted the school budget tentatively on Tuesday night. The public hearing on the budget will be held January 14 and the public vote on February 4.

Contingencies. Two items of significance have been added; $5,000 for a professional negotiator to handle dealings between board and teachers in light of a complex new state law, and $5,000 to recruit black teachers.

The board also added a $30,000 contingency fund. Winthrop Pike, finance chairman, said the fund could be used, for example, if the teacher lists were all filled, "but a promising young black teacher walked in and asked for a job."

Mr. Pike said the board decided to eliminate a $25,000 "cash flow" provision designed to ease the first half of the school year when cash is short. The item has been dropped completely.

In the teacher salary account, the board was able to pick up $23,600, because the teacher substitution is cheaper now than it was a few months ago. (With a 20% teacher turnover, Mr. Pike pointed out, you often hire new teachers who are lower on the pay scale than the ones who left.)

However, the board expected the teachers' cost of living increase to be 4.3% and it turned out to be 5.2%, according to national cost-of living index figures, so that part of the budget jumped $40,000.

The board also will charge its sending districts $22,000 more, meaning "found money" in the budget.

"The net impact is good," observed Mr. Pike, surveying his new budget.

Watch the Mails. A thick budget document will be mailed to all Princeton residents around January 1. Four pages will be devoted to a complete listing of each "line" item, Mr. Pike stated.

Board members emphasized that any club or group can invite a board member to talk about the budget, and Mr. Pike said a "telephone hour" may be instituted, so taxpayers can telephone a board member and ask questions.

Sidewalks Needed. "How can we pressure Township Committee to build sidewalks?" exclaimed board member William Marvel, after James Pitman at River Road asked for a bus stop in the middle of a snowy River Road.

"Sidewalks are the cheapest kind of public improvement," said Mr. Marvel. "Can't" we relate them to the cost of bus transportation, and to child safety and get a Township sidewalk plan going again?"

Philip E. McPherson, superintendent, said the question was discussed often in Traffic Safety Committee meetings. "But when the chips are down," he said, "the money just isn't on sidewalks."

The board passed a resolution recognizing the Princeton Regional Education Association (new name for the teachers' organization) as the legal employee representative for all professionally certified employees except supervisors.

Under a new state law, public employee groups must submit a letter to the public employer asking recognition as the bargaining agent.

David Mackey, president of the P.R.E.A., said that 97% of the teachers are members and that 80% of the certified staff voted to make the P.R.E.A. its agent.

When board vice president Thomas Moore, presiding in

SALZBURGERS BACK

With Marionettes. The Salzburg Marionettes were founded more than fifty years ago in the home of Professor Anton Aicher and the Aicher family still carries on the tradition that will delight Princeton audiences again this year.

The troupe will come to McCarter for two performances on Sunday, January 5. "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" will be given at 1 p.m. and "Rumpelstiltskin" at 3:30. Tickets are now on sale at the McCarter box-office.

The Salzburg company will be making its third appearance at McCarter. In Europe, the Salzburgers have their own permanent theatre and present a year-'round schedule of performances in repertoire.

THE ENGLISH BITE

Satirical Revue Scheduled. "Strictly for Kicks," a title not to be confused with this year's Triangle show ("A Different Kick," just to start off the confusion), will be given at McCarter Theatre on Sunday, December 29 at 8 p.m.

This is a British satirical revue, in the tradition of "Beyond the Fringe," "Strictly for Kicks" presents six members of the Oxford-Cambridge Revue Clubs on a Christmas-vacation tour of American universities.

One of the revue's numbers is "Elephant Gun," originally written for Triangle by Clark Gesner, who later went on to write "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown."

Some of the other titles in "Strictly for Kicks" are "Topless," "Adman Madman," "Judo Kudos", "Action Replay: Wrestling," and "The Night is Young and You'll Go Mad."

"AMAHL" COMING

With Boychoir Cast. Gian-Carlo Menotti's contemporary Christmas classic, "Amahl and the Night Visitors" will be sung by the Columbus Boychoir at McCarter Theatre next Monday at 8:30. There will also be a 2:30 matinee.

In addition to presenting the full version of the Menotti opera, the Boychoir will sing traditional and modern Christmas carols.

Mrs. Evelyn Bloom, soprano, will sing the role of Amahl's mother. A voice teacher at the Columbus Boychoir School, she is choir "mother" for the touring choir and has traveled with the choir throughout the United States, Canada and South America.

Mrs. Bloom made her operatic debut with the Chicago Opera, and sang frequently after that with several opera companies in the eastern United States. She has also sung in musical comedy, oratorio and in solo recital.

S. T. Kimbrough, young baritone, will make his first appearance with the Boychoir in "Amahl." This fall, he sang the role of Marcello in "La Boheme" in Italy, the result of winning the American Opera Auditions, in Cincinnati.

Tickets for the Boychoir "Amahl" are on sale at the McCarter box office.

TRIANGLE TRANSFORMED

In 80th Extravaganza. The audience which filled McCarter Theatre last week to see "A Different Kick" arrived with an attitude of nostalgic indulgence appropriate to a once great collegiate tradition on the wane.

The alumni braced themselves and prepared to laugh no matter what, and the undergraduates apologized to their dates in advance for the silliness of the affair. After all, it was a Princeton tradition, even if like most such traditions, it was embarrassingly out of tune with the times.

But everyone was in for a surprise. The 80th Triangle Club musical, which returns to McCarter for a final performance Wednesday, January 1, really is different: It is good. Not just good by its own standards, nor just good for a college production, but just plain good in a way which needs no indulgence or condescension to joy.

This year, Triangle has allowed much of the tradition to die and has created in its place a new updated, streamlined show. The hairy-leg kicklines, the absurdly syrupy boy-meets-boy plots and the super-sentimental songs, which were the mainstays of the old Triangle, have been relegated to the background to allow more emphasis on topical humor, modern music and the first real girl ever to appear in a Triangle show.

Exuberance Retained. Happily, still intact, however, is

— FILM RATINGS —

"DOCTOR DOLITTLE" — Good entertainment for adults, youth and children.

Boys' Life says: "The elaborate movie has lots of music, imagination and humor. The settings shift from an English village to a circus and then to a shipwreck on a marvelous floating island."

"THE BOSTON STRANGLER" — Adults, interesting; youth and children, no. The film's slick techniques are extremely effective; perhaps too much so, for they turn a harrowing, morbid event into an entertainment. The language is quite rough.

BOSTON STRANGLER: Tony Curtis as the Strangler is caught in a compelling cat-and-mouse game with Henry Fonda, cast as a policeman-psychoanalyst, in the crime film now at the Garden Theatre.

News Of The Theatres

the zany exuberance which has animated the past musicals.

"A Different Kick" is a free-wheeling review which takes comic aim at some of the major landmarkers on the American scene from George Wallace to "The Dating Game." Spirio Agnew comes in for his share of ribs, and the F.B.I. does not escape unscathed.

The pride of the production is, of course, Sue Jean Lee, the first of what will hopefully be a long line of Triangle female leads. Miss Lee a cute, petite brunette, has a stage presence of charm and vitality which stunningly obscures the inadequacy of her voice. Her opening song, "Tiger by the Tail," is professionally delivered, and she is equally adept at portraying an airhead contestant on "The Mating Game."

The male standout in the cast is unquestionably Paul Lateliaw, an agile dancer and masterful comedian with a tremendous range of verbal and facial expression and a perfect sense of timing. His performance as J. Edgar Scrooge in "A Cool Carol," a psychedelic take-off on Dickens, is the sustaining force in that somewhat overinflated skit.

George Wallace's Parodied. Another able comic, Granville Burgess, who is president of the Club, deserves much of the credit for its metamorphosis, adeptly carries off two of the show's funniest moments, a frenetic parody of George Wallace and an artful spoof of Miss Lee's song.

Among the other members of the cast, which is half as large and twice as talented as last year's, Scott Berg as the high-pressure moderator of "The Mating Game," and Oscar Fruchtman as a harried high school senior awaiting answers from colleges, particularly demand mention.

Although none of the musical numbers is sustained as long as one would have liked, the music by Barry Miles, Woody Allen and four others is varied and pleasant, drawing inspiration from such disparate points as Tin Pan Alley, Liverpool and Detroit.

There are moments when the rhythm falters, and a few sketches suffer from taking themselves too seriously, but on the whole director-choreographer Buck Heller has skillfully maintained the sharp fast pace and a mood for irreverent humor.

The visual effects, engineered by Robert Drennan, are brilliantly conceived to complement the action. James Saslow's Spartan, flexible set of ramps, and platforms provide an attractive and efficient home for the action.

— William H. Simon

GARDEN

The Boston Strangler (now playing), based to a large extent on police records, employs a semi-documentary approach. The theme is handled more from the point of view of the threat of unrecognized mental illness than as a horror story. A show of violence is avoided in that all 13 murders take place off-screen.

However, as the procession of suspects comes on in vignette scenes, you have glimpses of homosexuality — male, female and double inversion; the erotic telephone caller, the prostitute's sadistic client, the ex-monk with a compulsion for self-flagellation, the gamut of the sordid, warped, pathetic and sick personalities, stripped to the nub by police investigators.

Tony Curtis, as the Strangler, makes a delayed entrance 60 minutes after the police

CHRISTMAS FEVER

What a Time! You can feel the excitement as you go along Nassau Street. Women clutching odd shaped packages, laughing and greeting one another. Youngsters home for the holidays in chatting clusters in the center of the side walks. And all over town mothers are saying firmly, "Stay out of my closet!"

For a last look around the shops, a final, speculative glance at your lists:

Rubion and vin rose sec—in small bottles with a dial chart that includes the use of the wines in cooking.

On the same track, Princeton Gourmet carries brandy warmers—a large brandy snifter that lies at an angle over a small alcohol burner. ($5.95) You might make a gift of it with Courvoisier from the Pink Elephant.

And if you're serving wine, Gourmet has a thermometer that can be placed into the cork. It registers for reds or whites, so you know the precise moment to serve. ($5.)

A specialty at the Food Mart is the preparation of a crown roast of lamb for cooking. This is time-consuming and painstaking, but the roast will look like a magazine illustration—and taste a lot better. You can also order barbecued chickens and roast beef—all cooked.

Also at the Food Mart is a large selection of cheeses for Christmas gatherings; baby Gouda, Creme Danica, imported Brie, various blues, and the sharp wine cheese spread that is so popular. The Mart also carries the mild Monterey Jack, from California, and Norway's Jarlsberg cheese, also mild.

A marvelous spread, called peashew butter, with nothing added to fool around with taste is made at the Nut Kettle in Turntable Junction, Flemington. Order some for Christmas or New Year's—and you'll be delighted.

The Village Bakery in Lawrenceville has Christmas cookies in the shapes of stars, trees, bells, reindeer, wreaths—and for some reason, strawberries. They come in such attractive boxes that you may want to order an extra for a neighbor gift. (About $1.75/lb.)

The bakery also has anise-flavored Shing-a-Lings, fruit cakes and for children, gingerbread houses. Cakes and pies may be ordered.

At Renwick's you'll find those cartwheel-size cookies, Christmas Stollen, incredibly good cherry-topped cheese cake, and all sorts of party-size pies topped with a high froth of whipped cream.

And fruit cakes—there are so many philosophies here that we can only hope you share our own catholic taste. We like them light, or dark, with glazed fruit on top, or with nuts, we like them brandy soaked or simon pure. If you're as keen as we are, join the tour.

At "your friendly" Food Mart they may stop joshing you long enough to show you the Claxton fruit cakes, a famous Georgia product, and only the FM carries it here. (1 lb., $1.19) At the Nassau Delicatessen is Mrs. Carver's fruit-case miniatures in a red scroll box. ($2.50) And her 3-pounder, with a server ($6.50).

Louise Mass has both individuals and pound sizes of fruit cake, as well as her excellent Christmas cookies. And at Thorne's Pharmacies is the Russell Stover brand with glace fruits and fat pecans on top. (2 lbs., $3.95).

Varsity Liquors offers a case of wines for those starting to appreciate such-six bottles ($13.22) containing German and French wines. And compartment bottles for green and white creme-de-menthe, each side holding 7.5 oz. of each. (You could use the bottle later for something else.

And a special for wives at Varsity Liquors is just under one gallon of Drambuie for $48.50.

Punch bowls in different sizes, complete with cups, are at Happy House in the Shopping Center. Also glass plates in smoke blue, amber or green—with matching glasses ($1 ea.)

Happy House also has the new Ronson "Varaflame" table chef. No smoke, no odor, and attractively designed.

Snowflake Window

Bypassers in Palmer Square are pausing in admiration at the Nassau Shoe Tree window designed by Mrs. Jane Tobish.

Exquisite glass snowflakes, in myriad forms, hang at the window top and from snow covered tree branches. Delicate traces of mirrored glass sparkle like fresh snow, and white silken balls accent the trees.

In the background two eccentric trees of white felt, tousled here and there with glass and mirror bits. And, capping the scene, two white doves of peace.

TOWN TOPICS goes into every home and place of business in Princeton. By their own figures, no other newspaper does half as well.

What's Cooking, Good-Looking?

For pioneers on the culinary frontier, here are a batch of new cookbooks. (The first two come with the recommendation of the Princeton Public Library.)

Trader Vic's Pacific Island Cook Book, Victor Bergeron (Doubleday, $7.50)

Stew!, Nika Hazelton (Simon & Schuster, $2.95) Infinite variety.

Instant Haute Cuisine, Esther R. Solomon, ($8.95) Classics adapted to the American kitchen.

The Freezer Cookbook, Charlotte Erickson, ($8.95) Really using your home freezer.

Hors d'Oeuvre, June Dutton & Edith Vanocur, ($2.50) Two Washington women's rebellion against boring canapes.

The Complete Kitchen Guide, Laegseth-Christensen and Smith, ($6.95) Fantastic, indispensible adjunct to a cookbook; defines and describes cuts of meats; etc. Great gift for a bride.

Pyromaniac's Cookbook, John J. Poster, Flaming dishes, fondues, etc.

($3.95). Princeton Clothing.

"Real sippin' whiskey" by Ezra Brooks, 90-proof, 12 yrs. old Bourbon in a decanter shaped like a gun ($11.98) The Cellar, Nassau Street.

Emilio Pucci perfumes, cologne, soaps, etc., in the "Vivara" fragrance. Improvisation Boutique, 195 Nassau.

Electronic flash — for the camera addict ($24.95). Mall Camera, Princeton Shopping Center. Or a Mall gift certificate, if you're not sure.

A Last Look Around . . .

Early 19th Century English china, collector's items for special display, are at Princeton Decorating Shop, Palmer Square. "We're particularly proud of them," Miss Sayen says.

Needlepoint, with the go-faster large mesh, comes in very individual designs, such as a sea horse, and would make a fascinating gift. As would the extraordinary lovely decoupage by Mary Ritts on useful small boxes and the unusual wall plaques of wood by Mrs. Phillip Gordon of Lawrenceville. (All at Princeton Decorating.)

At Home Decor, in the Princeton Shopping Center, they've been having a run on lamp shades — a sign that many women are taking a last look around the house before the holidays. You'll find millions of pillows there — rough weaves, silks, corduroy — and a fine variety of bathroom accessories.

You may need a coffee table, or a new chair, and The Workbench on Route 206 near Cherry Hill Rd. is worth exploring. We saw a stunning low table of black slate, held by stainless steel legs. Their Orsk "Z" chair is completely comfortable and a conversation piece — a New York museum has requested one. ($39.50)

Here, too, you'll find rya ("rya means rug") in 100% wool — dreaming, blurred designs, made in Holland (4'x6' —$89.50) The colors are subtle, modern. For a change of pace in lighting, see the Swedish "pillbox" lamps in floor and desk models. You swivel the pillbox to the angle you need.

Windsor-back bar stools with cushioned seats come in polished pine at the Rug and Furniture Mart. The stool is about 24" high. $(47.95). The Mart carries tole lamps, some in the ever-usable bridge lamp style, and we saw an attractive night stand in cherry that could be used as an end table. Complete with two long drawers, six small drawers and an open space for books, or magazines or the phone ($109.95).

Ivy Manor in the Shopping Center has several attractive tea wagons in Early American design, and some long, useful coffee tables in cherry. We liked the five-footer with side flaps, as simple as a harvest table.

Lane's cedar chests are in full supply at Ivy Manor — some with the drawer, some with a shelf that lifts up as you open the top. ($79.95 up)

And at Mall Camera we found a complete developing and printing set by "FR" called the Semi-Pro, for the photographer in your family. It contains everything except the enlarger. The big advantage, as Mr. Hirsch points out, is that no dark room is needed. ($14.95)

Mall has the metal slide-sorter by Smith-Victor, a three-level gadget that holds 21 slides ($4.95) It collapses into a small case. And we found the popular Polariod and Nikon cameras.

A home message center by Dri-Mark can be found at Lucar Hardware in Princeton Junction. Cork on the top half and a special message board on the bottom ($3.95) Here, we saw a corn popper by Mir-ro Matic — no burning, no shaking; a light goes on when the popcorn is ready. ($7.95)

In the liquor stores, there's the seasonal appearance of decanters and off beat packaging.

At Nassau Liquors — liqueur gift packs, such as Vander mint from Holland in a delft-type decanter; or Sabra from Israel, or Pasha from Turkey. Each comes with two liqueur glasses. A new item is the Mardi-Gras pineapple wine (serve it cold). A fifth comes with four gold glasses.

Wine & Game: Bellow's Christmas pack of six decanters in a red cardboard valise. Gin, vodka, rum, bourbon, scotch and blended whiskey inside. A new cordial is Chokalu, chocolate-mint in a wild bottle, somewhat Aztec in design. (Wine & Game will be happy to make up Christmas baskets for you.)

Pink Elephant: Paul Masson's rare cream sherry in a heart shaped bottle. Two hand blown, longstemmed sherry glasses come with it. Jim Beam's 165-month-old Bourbon, 90-proof, in a blue and gold ceramic decanter.

Cousins: try the new Australian wines, made from French and German grapes cultivated "down under." Or, Delmain & Company's Tres Belle Grande Champagne Cognac, with a holder from which you swing the bottle when you fill the glasses.

Varsity Liquors: A music box with a dancing Scot is combined with Gilbey's Spey Royal Scotch. 100 months old and the tune is "Coming Through The Rye."

MAN OF THE WEEK: W. Bradford Craig, Director of Student Services at Princeton University, for his continuing contributions to the development of education at community as well as national levels.

Glamour Gifts

At LaVake's on Nassau Street, we found the ever-loved circle pin in endless variations: moonstones accented by small sapphires, pearls crossed by a diamond and sapphire spray; and diamonds touched by two yellow-gold acanthus leaves, to name several, all lovely and feminine. ($200, $400, $2200)

Among the rings, a row of diamonds, edged with sapphires; an off-center leaf of rubies accented by diamonds; or a bouquet of emeralds and diamonds. ($1,280 up) Also some glowingly beautiful examples of the use of jade, garnet and amethyst, set with accenting diamonds. ($90-$670)

For gifts in sterling, you'll find the range goes from liqueurs ($12.50 each) to coffee and tea sets and trays. Men's jewelry in 14K gold includes severely plain tie slides ($17-$80) and tie tacs that are either circles or interesting bark shapes ($10-$52.) Among the cuff links, we noted black onyx-edged opals ($140) and conservative ovals in 14K gold ($37.)

At Milady on Palmer Square the subject is furs — all softs of mink jackets and the new fitted coats. We saw some amusing mink bows to touch up your costume and fur dickies in light or dark mink and persian lamb.

The mink hats are fun, ranging from fairly small toppers to big and fluffy. While you're there, you'll want to see the hand-trimmed cashmere sweaters. They're elegant and different. Milady also has unusual jewelry, ranging from antique pieces to today's designs in fine gems.

If you are in the market for perfumes, you'll discover Chanel is at Marsh Pharmacy . . . with "No. 5" also available in cologne-and-bath powder sets at $11 and $12. Marsh carries the great old brands—Rochas, Lanvin, Dorsay, Worth, Lentheric, Yardley.

Coty's magnificent new fragrance, "Elan," is on display at the Thorne Pharmacies, in one-half ounce perfume concentrate ($5); dusting power ($5). Also Frances Denny's "Interlude" in a bright wrapping tied in striped green and pink ribbon. The foaming milk bath (ever tried it?) is $5, and the Regency gift set has cologue Cologne, bath oil, purse spray and beauty bath (sampler sizes) all at $5.

For the young girls, there is the Budding Beauty line that includes a glamour pack of hand lotion and toilet water. Yardley, for the younger set, includes the Oh! de London products: Luv Dust perfumed powder mist ($2) and Luv bubbles ($3). All at Thorne's.

Christmas Books

Princeton Public Library comes to the rescue of the hurried shopper with recommended books for Christmas giving. The adult and young adult titles are 1968, with a few notable exceptions. "The children's titles are a mixture, with a heavy hand on the good old standards of which Princeton children are particularly fond," Robert H. Staples, library director, tells us.

ADULT FICTION: Green Corn Moon by George Laning; fey fiction (Viking, $4.95); The Dowager, Elise Sanguinetti; novel of modern Charleston (Scribner $5.95).

SPORTS: Pro Football U.S.A., Hal Higdon (Putnam $6.95); 24 Seconds to Shoot, Leonard Koppett, pro-basketball (Macmillan $5.95).

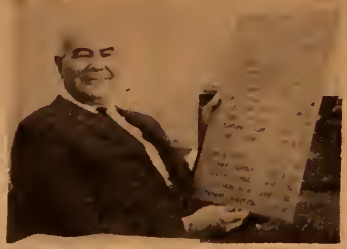
Christmas Host Invites 36 Relatives to Dinner

Christmas dinner for 36 relatives sounds like some thing that would roast anybody's goose.

But Edward H. Luckett, 12 South Stanworth Drive, has invited those 36 relatives not only for Christmas dinner, but for Christmas Eve roast beef, Christmas night cold buffet, two breakfasts and plenty of holiday cheer in between.

Not at 12 South Stanworth, needless to say. Mr. Luckett will be taking over the entire basement floor of the Princeton Inn for the food and drink sessions. Sleeping accommodations for all 36 guests will be on the first and third floors of the Inn for the two nights of the celebration.



MENU? NO — GUEST LIST. That's a combination guest list-family tree, and Edward Luckett needs it for checking purposes because he has invited 36 of his family tree for Christmas dinner.

"I've been a bachelor for 11 years, and all that time I've been bumming Christmas from my relatives," Mr Luckett beams with an impish beam. "Now I'm paying them all back — and not only that, I'm insuring perpetual care for myself from now on!"

All a relative has to pay is transportation. Everything else — absolutely everything else — is on Mr. Luckett.

Full to bursting with excitement about his generous enterprise, Ed Luckett looks like a genial host right out of Charles Dickens.

"I've been saving money for this Christmas for the past two years," he explains — declining to tell how much it's going to end in terms of good, cold turkey.

"Instead of eating out, I cooked in my own apartment — you figure out how much I saved!"

R.S.V.P. Invitations to 36 relatives went out 15 months ago, in September, 1967. At the same time, Ed Luckett began his strategy-planning sessions with Samuel Stewart, manager of the Princeton Inn.

Mr. Luckett, a graduate of Princeton with the Class of '27 and about to retire as Assistant Director of the Princeton University Conference, has had a lot of organizing experience. His plans for the All Luckett Christmas Party show the influence of years of alumni gatherings — things to keep the kids occupied, scheduled activities with free time thrown in, awards for "oldest," "youngest," and for the two Luckets who have travelled the farthest to get here.

Invitations in 1967 went to all Lucketts through the first cousin relationship. "I've invited the in-laws of my three children, too, because after all, we do have the same grand children."

Check-in time is 5 p.m. Christmas Eve. And that doesn't mean 6 or 7, either. A Luckett who can't make it by 5 is urged to take an earlier train.

"We begin with Happy Hour at 5," and that eager beam comes into Mr. Luckett's eyes again. "At 6, the kids will have their supper, and at 7, the grown-ups will all sit down to Christmas Eve roast beef dinner."

One son-in-law and a 12 year-old grandson have been appointed Comic Book and Jig Saw Co-chairmen, to round up fun and games that will keep the youngest occupied in the TV room while the parents work over the roast beef.

Incidentally, Mr. Luckett desperately needs a baby sitter for Christmas Eve — one Luckett is only a year old.

And Santa. Christmas morning, the clan will troop downstairs for breakfast.

"We'll have a Santa Claus — that's my brother-in-law. He's had a lot of Santa Claus experience. We'll have a fake fireplace and mantel for stockings, but just knick-knacks. Parents will provide stockings, and if families want to exchange presents, they'll have to do it privately in their rooms — can you imagine 37 people, each giving the other a present. . . .!"

After everyone, including brother-in-law Santa, is exhausted from Christmas morning, there will be a ride on the dinky to Princeton Junction and back.

"Then Happy Hour and a 2 p.m. Christmas turkey dinner. You know," and Mr. Luckett leans forward with that beaming smile again, "I'm a member of the Class of '27 and I find '27 whenever I can. Do you know — I planned a children's table at Christmas dinner for the 10 youngest, and that leaves a horse shoe shaped table for — 27 adults! What do you think of that!"

"I've been threatening to make a speech, but I may not. But I will give the award for 'Internal or Long Distance' to Edward Luckett Shaw, who's coming from Buenos Aires, and for 'National Long Distance' to my cousin Louise from Mobile."

"The family thinks they know who'll win the 'Oldest Award' but I've got an older candidate they don't know about. And the youngest, of course, is one year."

Everyone will receive a souvenir plaque executed by the Princeton artist Constance Bonotto. Designed, of course, by Edward Luckett. It commemorates the first Luckett who came to this country in 1630, and all ten generations since. "300 years of progress", is the proud legend.

After sleeping it off on Christmas afternoon, the Lucketts will gather again for bourbon and buffet Christmas Night. They are invited to stay for breakfast the next day because Mr. Luckett doesn't want his kin on the highways Christmas night.

Has anybody been left out? Except second cousins, of course.

"Well, I don't think so..." said Ed Luckett, scans his family tree again. "Crashes? Well, if I recognized a friend I might let him in. And of course, if there were some young one stranded alone in New York, I'd let down the bars."

Tiny Tim, who was not a Luckett, seems to have expressed the whole idea as well as anybody:

"God bless us," he said, "every one." Thirty-four, thirty-five, thirty-six, thirty-seven.

the absence of president Mrs. George Fremon, asked why the other 20% didn't vote "yes." Dr. M. Pearson said he hadn't heard of any overt objections — perhaps most of the 20% simply hadn't voted yet.

Thomas P. Cook, attorney for the board, explained that under the new state law, all other categories of public employees — secretaries in the school offices, custodians, and so on — would have to form groups and go through the same process, although there is no requirement that they do so.

FIRE DESTROYS COTTAGE

At Hilltop Farm. Fire Monday afternoon destroyed an empty two-story wooden cottage on the grounds of the Hilltop Farm, the William T. White estate located on the top of Bruere's Hill, Route 206.

The cottage, which was in the process of being renovated into living quarters, was gutted. Only the walls were left standing police said. They were notified at 12:57 by Ellen Gates, who was calling from the farm.

A general alarm was sounded in Princeton three times because response from the first two was poor. Lawrenceville and West Windsor Fire companies also went to the scene.

Firemen were directed by Alexander Duthie Jr., assistant fire chief of the Princeton Department. The fire was declared out at 4:30 but at 5:40, police were called because flames had flared again. One piece of apparatus was sent to wet down the remains. Cause of the fire is still under investigation.

During the blaze, traffic on 206 was detoured from the area by Township police with the assistance of Lawrenceville police. The Princeton Water Company was also called because of low water pressure.

Smoke Filled House.

A general alarm was sounded at 10:18 last Wednesday evening for a fire at the home of David White, 135 John Street.

Borough police, seeing the house filled with smoke, thought the house was on fire and pushed in the locked front door. Cause of all the smoke, however, were the smouldering contents of pots on a kitchen stove.

TRUCK JUMPS CURB

On Stockton Street. A Bell Telephone panel truck jumped the curb and struck a pole at 4:15 Monday morning on Stockton Street near Edgehill.

The driver, Eugene Livingston, 25, of Trenton was treated at Princeton Hospital after he complained of pains in his left side and right leg. He told Sgt. Ralph Procaccino, the investigating officer, that he could not remember what happened.

According to the police report, the truck jumped the south curb, hit a Public Service pole and continued on some 60 feet before coming to rest between the curb and sidewalk. There were no charges.

At 6:50 Thursday evening, a man was knocked to the roadway by a car on the grounds of Princeton High School.

The victim, George F. Golia, 32, of Titusville, refused medical attention. He told Ptl. William Hunter, however, that he would see his own doctor for bruises to his right knee, hip and ankle.

Phillip C. Montgomery, 19, 14 Dickinson Street, the driver, told Ptl. Hunter that he had just dropped a passenger off in front of the PHS auditorium. As he pulled away from the curb, the pedestrian suddenly appeared in front of him, he said. There were no summonses.

Cyclist Knocked Down. Early last week in the Township, a 15 year-old cyclist was knocked to the ground in the intersection of Terhune Road and Walnut Lane.

Barbara Saldick, 24 Randall Road, was treated at Princeton Hospital for contusions and abrasions of both knees, her left ankle and cheek. The rear wheel of her bicycle was caught by the fender of a car driven by Gerardo E. Castillo, 30, of Route 4.

According to the police report, Miss Saldick said the accident was her fault. She told Ptl. Michael Kopliner that she had seen the Castillo car but she was not paying attention to her course as she entered the intersection.

There were no charges.

1425 UNITS INSPECTED

In Borough Rental Survey. Five percent of the rental units in the Borough "appear to fall to meet the requirements" of the new housing code, according to a summary of the survey of rental housing released at a Board of Health meeting Tuesday night.

The board voted to accept the report without change.

Although inspections are continuing, the report constitutes a final account of the data gathered in the program begun in February of this year by the Health Department. To date, 1,425 inspections of rental units have been completed, with 281 still to be done.

The report is the work of Thomas McElhinney, a member of the faculty at Westminster Choir College and director of the project, who guided a team of college and seminary age viewers. From his screening of the completed interviews, Mr. Elhinney designated 218 as needing follow up action by health officer David Blake.

The follow ups were broken down into three categories. Those of the first order had the most serious trouble: an important item missing, a potential immediate hazard or an overall poor condition. One outstanding example from an interviewer's sheet runs, "Kitchen sink poor, leaking, plus wash drain properly. Needs plaster and paint, lots of repair. Renter says no heat during several months of winter. Ceilings are falling in and walls collapsing."

The Trouble Spot. A total of 73 units, 5% of the total, were designated as first order follow-ups. Forty seven of these were described by the report as located in the northwest section of town, bordered by Nassau and Vandeventer.

Another 10% of the total number of completed interviews were classified as Second or Third Order Follow-ups. These, in the words of the report, "constitute a grey area in the overall picture of rental housing in Princeton."

According to the summary, the 140 units so designated apparently do not violate the present code; yet, in part they represent rental conditions in Princeton which may need attention. Again, the greatest number of these were located in the northwest area of town.

Commenting on follow-ups the Board of Health pointed out that "they do not necessarily reflect violations of the housing code. This will be determined at the end of the second phase, when these rental units will have been officially inspected." On this count, Mr. Blake reported that he has made a few follow-up inspections, but not as many as he would have liked, because of the demands on his time for other health matters.

Mr. McElhinney said his team of interviewers, two members of which will work through the Christmas vacation period, will attempt to complete the remaining 281 interviews by returning to the rental unit and by sending a letter asking the occupant to call the Health Office.

Ten per cent of this figure refused to admit the interviewer, 23% were vacant and 12% were not home during any one of four calls. Another 25% remains who care about public education and are willing to work for it?"

A total of 1,706 rental units were identified, according to Mr. McElhinney, but he commented that his workers went to more than this number of homes. "There were 291 addresses for which we could not take an interview, because these were places that were either no longer rented, or where we could not find the address given. This generally meant that there were supposed to be more apartments than actually do exist," Mr. McElhinney noted.

CANDIDATES? WHERE?

Few Run for School Board. Where are the parents who came out in such numbers on a transportation problem this fall? Where are representatives of the Negro parents who have demanded that 30 black teachers be hired by September? Where are the Prince

In a strong statement issued this week, Herbert Bailey of the Princeton Regional School Board, who is not running for re-election, expressed dismay at "the dearth of candidates for the school board." The deadline for filing petitions is next Thursday, December 26, at 4 p.m. and so far, only three people have stated their intention of running. Petitions, requiring only ten signatures, may be obtained from William J. Evans, Stony Brook Administration Building.

Pike to Run. Winthrop Pike, 101 Leabrook Lane, has said that he will seek re-election to the board. Charles P. Dennison, 11 Haslet Avenue, has taken out a petition, but has not yet filed it.

Both Mr. Pike and Mr. Dennison are Township residents. There are two Township positions open on the board. Mr.

A Thank-You Note

One of Township Committee's most persistent needlers, prodders, critics and friendly persuaders, always in the field of broader human and civil rights, is Seymour Alpert, 27 Random Road.

At Committee's Monday night meeting, Administrator Joseph R. Nini read a letter written by Mr. Alpert to Burton Peskin and Carl C. Schafer Jr., outgoing Committeemen with whom Mr. Alpert has not always, to put it very mildly indeed, agreed.

Mr. Alpert thanked the two men for "the hundreds of hours" they had given to community service. He suggested that a key question for departing office holders might be "is the community a better place now, than it was when you took office?" and he answered the question and concluded his letter by saying:

"You have nothing to regret and much to be proud of."

Pike's and Mr. Bailey's.

In the Borough, the only candidate so far is Mrs. Inez Hinds, 229 John Street.

Thomas Moore, 19 Grove Street, announced at the school board meeting Tuesday night that he would not run for re-election. "I would encourage anyone to run for the board," Mr. Moore said. "It is an opportunity to render a valuable service to the community."

"Mr Moore has been a great force for the good of the community on this board," commented Mr. Pike.

Mr. Bailey also referred to "people who have so loudly expressed their concern at Mr. Michael's leaving the high school" and other residents who came to meetings to protest the budget.

"People who want to help, should run," Mr. Bailey said. "The children in the school are our children."

Brother and Sister at Princeton. For the first time in its more than 200-year history, a and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ed brother and sister are among wa T.V. Craig, of New Milford the 3,200 undergraduates at Princeton University.

Edward Craig, 21, a senior pre-med student, was joined by his sister Susan, 20, who is spend another junior year away I applied because Prince from Manhattanville College, ton's Critical Language Pro planned Miss Craig, one of 17 under Princeton's Cooperative gram is designed to develop students enrolled in the critical Undergraduate Program for current course-program Language Program.

Critical Languages. They are the Arabic, Chinese, Japanese and Russian and Japanese. She has had seven terms of instruction in spoken Japanese and intends to begin work in Chinese at Princeton. Miss Craig plans to spend next summer in Japan and hopes to return there for graduate study. In addition to language work, history, literature, and a seminar on modern America.

The pretty language student also writes for "The Tiger", Princeton's humor magazine, and has organized a Girl Scout troop in Trenton. At Manhattanville, Miss Craig worked as a mathematics tutor for an 8-year-old in Purchase, N. Y., and found time to play on the school's basketball team.

Miss Craig lives in the Graduate College quadrangle, a half-mile from her brother's suite in Blair Hall. Aside from baking birthday cakes and helping with party decorations for members of her brother's brute, she provides "that added female viewpoint".

Edward, a biology major, is vice-president of the Princeton senior class and serves on the executive committee of the Undergraduate Assembly. He has been a leader of campus fund appeals, has played intramural athletics and worked on the staff of The Daily Princetonian during his three-and-one-half years at Princeton.

According to Mr. Craig, "It really helps to have an opinion from the opposite sex, even though it is my sister. She gives a small group of us an idea of what coeducation would be like here."

Like his sister, Mr. Craig has volunteered some of his time to work with youngsters. He helps with the Harlem-in-Princeton program which brings teenagers from Manhattan's 125th Street area to the Princeton campus for activities.

Mr. Craig has found that since his sister came to Princeton more students have been talking with him than ever before. "Funny thing, though," he remarked, "I always find the conversation gets around to Sue."

In Borough, Charles Cornforth will probably be elected president of Borough Council, succeeding William H. Walker, who will go off Council at the end of the year.

Mayor Henry S. Patterson said this week that Mr. Cornforth's election was almost certain. The mayor also said that he had appointed Mr Cornforth as head of the Finance Committee.

Mrs. Alice Male, one of Council's two newcomers, will have the Welfare portfolio and will also be a member of the Public Safety Committee. In addition, the mayor said, she will take on many of the youth assignments which he has been handling himself.

The other two members of the Public Safety Committee will be Robert Hendry, who will be the new Police Commissioner, and Fred Peterson who will be Fire Commissioner.

James Adrews, Council's other newcomer, will be Housing chairman, and also head of sewer operating and public works.

Mr Hendry and Mr. Peterson will join Mr. Cornforth on Finance. Mr. Cornforth will continue as liaison with the Board of Health. Alan Carrick will continue with Planning Board, Open Space and the Shade Tree Commission and will take on Recreation as well.

FIVE STORIES? NO

Planners Reject. The Borough Planning Board thinks Princeton will be better off with four-story buildings than five story buildings in the central business district.

By a 5-3 vote, the board rejected the amendment to the new zoning ordinance that would have increased allowed building heights to five stories. The special Planning Board meeting was held Monday night.

Now Borough Council must decide whether to over-ride the Planning Board and pass the five-story amendment anyway, or go along with the board majority and stick to four stories.

Council will meet in special, year-end session next Friday, December 27 at 7:30, and will vote at that time. Because the Planning Board has already voted "no", Council will have to muster four "yes" votes to pass the five-story amendment by the required two-thirds majority.

Mayor Henry S. Patterson expressed doubts at his press conference this week that the amendment would pass. "Many Councilmen believe they shouldn't substitute their own views for those of the Planning Board," the mayor explained, "because Planning Board members are the experts in this matter."

Planning Board members voting "no" on the amendment were Alan Carrick, Carl Erdman, Norman Williams, Bryan Moore and John B. Redding. "Yes" votes were cast by Thomas Cawley, Arthur P. Morgan and Mayor Patterson. Robert van de Velde was absent.

CHURCH ASKS VARIANCES

In Township. Representatives of the Princeton Church of Christ will go before the Township Zoning Board this Thursday at 8 to ask for the variances they need to build a church on River Road.

The church has already been before the Planning Board, which is concerned about the property's location in the flood plain of the Millstone River.

Neighbors warned the Planning Board last week that they were opposed to construction of a church building on the site. The land, where the old Kingston Bridge, River Road and the Princeton-Kingston Road meet, has been considered for a possible park.

Also on the Zoning Board agenda is a request by Drs. John DiBianco and Dr. Genuino Nazzaro to practice medicine in the residential zone on North Harrison.

The two doctors would like to buy the 181 Harrison Street property of Mr. and Mrs. Ed ward J. Sweeney. One doctor and his family would live in the house, and both would practice in an office, to be built as an addition.

Princeton Bank and Trust will appear again to ask for permission to install a sign on the bank's Route 206 branch. Last month's request was turned down. The sign was 200% too big.

The proposal of B & D Construction to build a house at 161 Parkside Drive on a substandard lot will also be before the board.

SQUIBB BUYS LAND

On Lawrence Site. More than 200 acres on Route 206 and Province Line Road have been purchased by E. R. Squibb and Co., exercising its options on the land, where it hopes to build a huge administrative - research complex. The firm took title to the two largest of its four parcels of land, retaining its options on the others.

Options on the two newly acquired properties were scheduled to expire the first of this month. A company spokesman said the remaining purchases will be made by June, 1969.

Meanwhile, Squibb's right to build on the land and Lawrence Township's controversial ordinance permitting profit-making firms in Rural A zones are still being challenged in court by the North Lawrence Citizen's Association. Suits brought 11 months ago by the NCLA and Princeton Township seeking to have the ordinance declared invalid were thrown out by Superior Court Judge George H. Barlow last August.

The NCLA decided to appeal the ruling to the appellate division of Superior Court, and has retained Asbury Park attorney Robert Ansell. Princeton Township, on advice from its attorneys, declined further action, feeling that chances of a reversal were extremely small.

By the time opposing briefs have been filed, with time for reply included, the case is not expected to be heard before a three judge panel before about February 1, 1969.

POLICE WARN OWNERS

Clean Your Sidewalks. A Borough ordinance requires that all snow be removed from sidewalks within 12 hours of daylight after snow has stopped falling. Every year, a small percentage of residents chooses to ignore the ordinance.

Last year, Chief Peter J. McCrohan decided to crack down on what he called "the chronic few offenders." He had his men issue more than 60 written notices after one storm. In a followup, five were issued summonses — the first in years. All five pleaded guilty and were fined.

Conviction can bring a $100 fine or 30 days in jail. After the season's first fall this weekend, Chief McCrohan reported he was again receiving complaints about sidewalks not being cleaned. His men started issuing notices on Monday.

Chief McCrohan urged all owners to clean their sidewalks within the prescribed time. Owners who are away should make provisions to have their walks cleaned. If they don't be warned, the Borough will have them cleaned and send the bill to the owners.

MACY'S IS THE ONE

Behind the Lawrence Mall. To the surprise of no one, New York's R. H. Macy has officially made known its intention to develop the Route One and Quakerbridge Road site into a $20 million regional shopping plaza.

A firm decision to go ahead with the plan will be made as soon as all prerequisites for locating there have been checked, according to Charles W. Garrison, a Bamberger's senior vice-president. These include the availability of water and sewers and appropriate zoning regulations.

Mr. Garrison would release no other details on the plaza, except to say that a Bamberger's store would be located there. He pointed out that the firm had gone no further than to consider a general proposal and that specifications still needed to be worked out.

According to earlier reports, the center will contain three other major department stores, a five-story office building and many smaller shops. Macy's would acquire the property, totalling 165 acres, build its store and then hire an outside developer to finish the rest of the center.

For its part, Lawrence Township has set about removing any legal roadblocks to the shopping center, by proposing a special zoning amendment, which specifies that large scale regional shopping centers may locate in the Route One industrial tract provided at least 50 acres of property are acquired.

The planning board approved the amendment last week, and it was expected to be introduced at the township committee meeting Wednesday night. Committee probably will take final action on the amendment following a public hearing at a

The availability of water and sewer lines should be no problem, according to Committeeman Charles E. Connell Jr. Elizabethtown Water Company is being approached to work out the mechanics of acquiring water, and sewers would be provided by the Ewing-Lawrence Authority.

MAN PAYS THREE FINES

In Traffic Court. A 19-year-old Cranbury driver was fined for three separate violations Monday by Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Robert J. Cenerino of North Gate Apartments, paid $15 for each offense after he pleaded guilty to being an unlicensed driver, and driving with a noisy muffler and an overdue inspection sticker.

Claudio Bruno, 27, of the Graduate College, and Mrs. Joan Maruhnic, 36, Mine Road, Hopewell, each paid $15 for careless driving.

In criminal court, Anthony W. Brown, 18, of Trenton, was fined $25 for trespassing on the Princeton University campus, but Judge Tams suspended the fine. A second charge of stealing a camera against Brown was dismissed.

Tuesday morning, a proctor from the University brought Brown to police headquarters again where he was issued a summons for trespassing in Wilcox Hall. Last week, Brown appeared in court to answer charges of trespassing on the University campus and at Princeton High School. He was given a one-day sentence in jail for each offense.

SDS SPONSORS RALLY

To End Campus ROTC. A rally on the steps of Nassau Hall, sponsored by the radical Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) to end all Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) programs at Princeton, attracted more than 400 student supporters counter-demonstrators, and spectators last Friday afternoon.

Chip Sills, a senior and SDS member who spent two years in Princeton's ROTC, began the hour of speeches condemning ROTC and the U.S. military-industrial complex.

"ROTC's primary goal is training a military elite to serve American imperialism", Mr. Sills said. "We are struggling to eradicate such a program."

Juan Gonzales, a student leader of the Columbia strike last spring, attacked ROTC as "the single most important military function of the university". "We've got to get military research off campus", Mr. Gonzales asserted. "We've got to get ROTC off campus".

Voting Reminder

The League of Women Voters reminds all Borough and Township residents that Thursday, December 26, is the final day to register or change voting address before the regional school board elections.

It is also the last day for those seeking election to the board to file nominating petitions. The election will be held Tuesday, February 4.

SDS's demands to end ROTC programs on campus included a call for the university to arrange for scholarships to replace grants to ROTC students by the federal government.

"If the trustees don't take a firm stand", said Peter Kaminsky, an SDS member and president of the Undergraduate Assembly, "it's up to the students to keep the problem before them". Mr. Kaminsky threatened a sit-in in Nassau Hall if the administration failed to act. The rally coincided with a Board of Trustees' conference in Nassau Hall.

WINDOW BROKEN

At Drumthwacket. State Police investigated a possible entry this week into Drumthwacket, the empty Greek-style mansion on Stockton Street being considered as a possible replacement for Morven, the Governor's mansion.

Trooper John Penney reported that a window was broken on the side of the building but apparently there was no larceny. "Nothing is missing," he he said. The window was broken between 3 and 8:30 Tuesday morning.

The Better Mousetrap

IF you want something more than just a stereo console, and something less than a houseful of electronic equipment, see the KLH* Model Twenty-Four.

The Model Twenty-Four is a complete stereo music system that plays records, FM broadcasts, AM too if you wish, plus anything (such as a tape recorder) you care to plug into it. Instead of looking like a Victorian hope chest or an electrician's nightmare, it comes in three compact and unobtrusive walnut cabinets that slip gracefully into a living room. It won't take up much of your valuable living space, and it doesn't take a pilot's license to operate.

But what sets it even further apart from other stereo equipment is the level of performance it delivers. It sounds—believe us—like twice the price. That's why it's the best-selling, most-talked-about stereo system on the market.

Ask anyone who owns KLH stereo equipment about its performance and value. Then seek out the Model Twenty-Four and judge it critically for yourself.

You won't have trouble finding one in a store. Just follow that well-beaten path.

Mission Impossible

(Editor's Note: The following editorial, satirizing the current impasse in the Paris peace negotiations over the selection of a suitable table, appeared last week in "The Daily Princetonian," written by Bruce E. Zuckerman.)

"Good morning, Mr. Phelps.

"The chief negotiators for the South Vietnamese and the National Liberation Front have refused to sit down at a table to negotiate the end of the shooting, bombing, killing, etc until it is decided what shape table should be used. The Front, desiring to emphasize its parity with the South, wants a square-shaped table. The South Vietnamese, desiring to emphasize their superiority to the Front, desire a rectangular table.

"Your mission, Jim, should you decide to accept it, is to make each side sit down at a table (we think a trapezoidal or rhombic variation on a hexagonally three dimensional parallelogram might do) in such a position that each will think he is getting the better end (or better side as the case may be) of the table.

"Of course, needless to say, all of this is to be done without each side knowing that the other side thought that it got the better deal. Furthermore, in maneuvering the shape and seating at the negotiating table, Jim, you should take extreme care lest the North Vietnamese or our negotiators become offended by the new arrangements. (Might we suggest that you make sure that the seats the U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators use have a little more padding than those of the South Vietnamese or the National Liberation Front. You also might take pains to see that the glasses of water served to Americans and North Vietnamese have slightly — but only slightly — bigger ice cubes than those of the other two sides.)

"Mirrors, secret sliding doors, false ceilings and walls will be supplied at your convenience upon demand. The department will also make available for your services our best resident magician (a good man, by the way, who cut his teeth at the talks in Pamonjom).

"Of course, if any of your I.M. force is caught or killed in all the red tape, the Secretary will disavow all knowledge of your operation (we've got a war to run, you know).

"Good luck, Jim. This article will self destruct in five seconds."

chase begins, emerging as a luring family man and psychotic murderer. The last half of the film is a cat-and-mouse game in which Henry Fonda, as a kind of policeman-psychoanalyst, tries to break the Strangler down and get a confession.

Curtis gives an interesting interpretation to the role, playing it as a tortured, bewildered, sick man. Fonda is really fine as the cultured Bostonian who comes to know himself through his probing the mind of the killer.

PLAYHOUSE, GREENWOOD

Doctor Dolittle (now playing) The good Doctor Dolittle in the person of suave Rex Harrison will be welcomed by audiences in the 8-to-80 category. Somehow, the fantasy musical about a doctor who talks to dozens of animals is not only bearable for adults, but amusing.

It is an adventure story set to music, beginning with Anthony Newley, playing Matthew Mugg, the cat meat vendor, singing "My Friend, the Doctor." The big production number, "I've Never Seen Anything Like It," takes place at the circus to which Dolittle has taken his pushmi-pullyu in order to raise money for his expedition to find the Great Pink Snail.

The film's most exciting moment for the youngsters comes when Dolittle and his party land on a floating island and are captured by savages.

"Dr. Dolittle" is beautiful, charming, often funny, but it lacks pace.

(Running time, 152 minutes.)

Thanks from Lawrenceville.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On behalf of the Trustees, the faculty and the students of The Lawrenceville School, I wish to express our appreciation to our neighbors for their helpfulness during the recent fire at the Upper House on our campus.

The volunteer fire companies served arduously and competently, and in fact managed to save both the dining room and much of the first and second floors. The dining room has continued in operation, and we look forward to use of the Upper House at a date earlier than anyone had thought possible.

I have personally received by mail and phone many offers of assistance, as have other members of the staff, and we shall do our best to express our thanks individually. I write this letter, however, because I wish to express publicly our very great appreciation of the response to our needs at a time of crisis.

Participants Lacking.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of an open letter I have sent to Mrs. George Fremon, President of the Princeton Regional Board of Education:

Although I have previously expressed my criticism of the Wednesday school closing, both at meetings and in writing, there is one additional important point that has become obvious in recent months.

We were told that the teachers feel it is most important to involve the community in their Wednesday dialoges, and indicated that they intended to have 50 parents participating. I understand that very few volunteers have come forward, and I would think for quite obvious reasons.

Since the meeting are scheduled for Wednesday between 1 and 3, every week for five months, who would be free to participate? Fathers? Obviously not.

Working mothers? Again, no.

Mothers with children in lower grades? Their children will be home and will need supervision, and therefore they are not available. Who is left? For the most part, only those mothers whose youngest children are old enough to be left at home unsupervised.

Is this truly a representative group of the community? In addition, although one of the supposed purposes of these Wednesday meetings is for teachers to explore their racial attitudes etc., you have effectively cut off the black parents from participating, since the fathers would not be available, and a very large number of the mothers work.

Therefore, I feel that this loss of significant parent participation will certainly have an adverse effect on the success of the Wednesday program.

Small Animal Rescued.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to publicly thank Mrs. Ailery C. Graves of The Small Animal Rescue League.

Last week when I returned home from school one day, I heard a yelping noise from the corner of the garage. Much to my surprise I saw a little white puppy with brown markings huddled nervously under the workbench. Even with much coaxing and offers of food he held his ground. He was just too frightened and not willing to trust anyone.

Since my husband and I were unable to keep the dog, we decided to turn him over to the dog catcher in our township (Montgomery). When I called and discovered that after seven days, if no one claimed the dog he would be put to sleep, I was determined to find another alternative.

I asked the girls in my classes at the Stuart Country Day School if anyone knew of a possible home for the puppy. One of the girls suggested I contact Mrs. Graves of The Small Animal Rescue League.

Even though I am not a resident of Princeton Township and Mrs. Graves already had some dogs on hand, she agreed to take the little stray puppy and find a home for it.

Today, Sunday, after only two days, Mrs. Graves called to tell me that a home had been found and a nice young couple had adopted the puppy.

Thank you, Mrs. Graves.

Amnesty for Objectors.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the Spirit of Christmas and in view of the urgent need in our country today for good will toward men, I suggest that as concerned citizens we join with those across the country in sending messages to the President requesting amnesty for the literally thousands of Americans in prison awaiting trial or in voluntary exile from their home land for conscience sake.

These are men of moral conviction and fortitude whose caliber has been proved by their courage to stand for their belief and to endure what it entails. Such men are needed to serve their country today in the crisis at home.

President Johnson in this 12th hour of office, when his hands are pretty well tied against any significant stance, surely could risk nothing by this act and he might well gain stature by such a farewell gesture. He would find himself in such worth company as George Washington and John Adams, who went further and granted amnesty even to those who, for principles they held, had taken up arms against the United States. These presidents were concerned with healing the division that threatened constructive harmony in the young nation.

How can a child learn to find his place in the world, and make it a better place to live? We would answer, by having the great treasures of the Bible opened up to him, and learning its lessons of love and spiritual power. That's what goes on every Sunday at the Christian Science Sunday School.

Fully aware now of his helplessness even "to set the table" in Paris for the peace talks, this is one thing the President still has the power of his office to do on his own. It may appeal to him as a means of healing at least some of the rifts and anguish caused by the Vietnam War. For the sake of the thousands of separated families, it is surely not too much to request at least a Christmas amnesty.

Post Office Defended.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In reply to Mr. Slaby's recent letter to the editor, I would like to elaborate on a few points that he brings out.

Mr. Slaby and other property owners did not have to spend $4,000 on legal fees. They retained the best-known trial lawyer in Mercer County and, naturally, his fees are high. It is assumed that the choice of counsel was made voluntarily.

Mr. Slaby is correct in stating that RCA, ETS and FMC are locating outside of Princeton Township; however, he is not correct in stating that they are the largest mail load on the postal system.

The largest amount of mail is delivered to the individual residents in the area. In 1966 the post office received 69,000,000 pieces of mail of which 50,000,000 pieces were delivered to residents.

Mr. Slaby states that the promoters have soft-pedaled the fact that the post office will operate 18 hours a day. This fact, and many others about the post office were fully discussed over six long meetings of the Zoning Board in July and August of 1967. The arrivals and departures of vehicles on half-hour intervals and a description of each type of vehicle was carefully explained to the Zoning Board.

North Harrison Street, according to a Township Traffic Survey made in 1966, had 23,659 vehicles pass by. With this amount of traffic, North Harrison Street is not known as a quiet residential street. These vehicles were traveling on North Harrison Street not just 18 hours a day, but 24 hours a day. The traffic includes buses and 36-ton tractor trailers. The largest truck that the post office now uses for Princeton is five tons.

Mr. Slaby refers to the post office as a "warehouse." Webster's definton of a warehouse is "a building where wares or goods are stored, before being distributed to retailers." The post office is not interested in storing mail. In fact, it is the opposite; they wish to distribute the mail as soon as possible.

Mr. Slaby suggests that the post office should be in the Township in the service zone "along 206 — along lower Alexander Street — along Route 1." First of all, Route 1 is not in Princeton Township. The service zone of Princeton Township does not allow a post office, therefore, the post office application would have to be approved by the Zoning Board.

Mr. Slaby states that he "wants to make it crystal clear that we who are opposing the location of the Postal Depot in a non-conforming area oppose it only on those grounds." To be consistent, Mr. Slaby would have to fight the post office locating in the service zone since the post office does not conform with that zone either.

Mr. Slaby states that the Township Hall was in the R3 area years before the present zoning law. This is true; however, part of the Township Hall is the Township Engineering Annex completed in 1964. This building was built many years after the present zoning law.

Mr. Slaby asks for a documentation of the statement that "Princeton Township will probably lose its mailing address. Look at our neighboring Township of Lawrence. The post office of Lawrenceville was able to handle mail until Lawrence Township had a considerable building boom a number of years ago which resulted in a shifting of most of the mail from Lawrenceville to Trenton and Princeton. Today, only the village of Lawrenceville has its own mailing address. The mails west of Lawrenceville have a Trenton address and the mails east of Lawrenceville have a Princeton address.

The same situation could occur in Princeton Township. Palmer Square postal facilities will take care of Princeton Borough. If the post office moves out of the Township, we may find that the Township no longer has a Princeton address. The address would change to whatever community in which the post office locates.

It is unfortunate that the post office has encountered so much opposition for such a badly needed service, but to borrow Mr. Slaby's phrase," we shall overcome."

PETITIONS DUE SOON For Hopewell Elections. Board of Education President Phillip Alampi has announced that all nominating petitions for those seeking to serve on the Hopewell Valley Board must be filed with the secretary on or before 4 p.m., Thursday, December 26.

Three three year terms and a one year unexpired term are open for Hopewell Township residents. The annual school election will be held on Tuesday, February 4, 1969.

The board recognized the Hopewell Valley Education Association as the only representative for collective negotiations, at its last meeting. The teachers association will negotiate with the board on matters pertaining to conditions and terms for all certificated personnel, excluding the superintendent, business administrator, director of instruction and principals.

The board also approved Mrs. Claire Cannon as a part time speech teacher in the system and named seven substitute teachers for the '68-'69 school year. They are Miss Marlene Bonacci, Miss Myrna S. Gartner, Mrs. Mary Ann Hedges, Mrs. Ruth Martin, Miss Miriam Thiel, Mrs. Jeanne Shagg and Thomas M. Strano.

In other board action, Charles McCarty was named junior varsity basketball coach at the Timberlane Junior School and Alan Brown was appointed junior varsity wrestling coach at the Central High School.

Arthur H. Clark, chairman of public relations for the board, reported that the second session of the Community Adult School will begin on Monday, January 27.

ACTIVITIES PLANNED By Junior Museum. The Princeton Junior Museum has planned a special holiday schedule of activities for visitors, highlighted by Professor Lionel Reshun's Christmas Lecture at 2 p.m., Friday, December 27, in Princeton University's Guyot Hall.

Professor Rebhun's lecture will be on "How to Multiply By Dividing", revealing some of the professor's own research on cell growth and development. Free tickets may be obtained by interested school children in the Museum, 175 Nassau Street.

In addition to its regular weekend open hours, from 10 to 4 p.m., Saturdays and Sundays, the Museum will be open from 2 to 5 p.m. during the holiday week, except on Christmas and New Year's Day, and the afternoon of the Christmas Lecture.

Students visiting the Museum will be able to use microscopes and to view films of microscopic organism life. Workshops on electronics will also be offered in the Museum during January.

The free workshops are sponsored by the Princeton Jaycees. Information and applications are available in the Museum.

CAREER DAY SCHEDULED By YMCA and Chamber. "Community Career Opportunities Day", jointly sponsored by the YMCA and the Chamber of Commerce, has been scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4, Friday, December 27.

Mr. Newton addressed the Investors Relations Committee of the Edison Electric while Mr. Worcester participated in a workshop held by the Public Relations Society of America.

The work of Naomi Savage, Drakes Corner Road, and her uncle Man Ray is featured in a photography show at the New Jersey State Museum.

Mrs. Savage, a graduate of Bennington College in Vermont, where she studied art and photography, has used several techniques in black and white still photography. She has also worked with photo color-toners, made photo-collages and photo objects of multi-layered positive negatives and plexiglass and superimposed negatives on prints and foil-paper. She has also employed techniques of photo-engraving and photoetching as well as silk screened photos on canvas.

The show, titled, "Two Generations of Photographs," will be on view until February 9. Museum hours are 9 to 5, Mondays through Saturdays, and 2 to 5, Sundays. During a reception on Friday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., three of Mr. Ray's films, "Anemic Cinema," "The Star of the Sea," and "The Mysteries of the Chateau of De," will be shown continuously in the museum auditorium.

Dr. Victor Lange, 106 Fitz-Randolph Road, chairman of Princeton University's Department of Germanic Languages and Literature, has been selected as a participant in the International Educational Exchange Program conducted by the State Department.

Professor Lange is the eleventh scholar to receive Princeton's century-old Woodhull Professorship of Modern Languages. He plans to lecture next summer at the University of Melbourne, Australia.

PROBLEMS MULTIPLY

For Tiger Quintet. The 1969 Ivy League basketball championship have been decided Saturday night. At the same time that Princeton was barely edging a strictly ordinary Navy quintet in Dillon Gym, Columbia was dancing a jig over a good Cornell team at Ithaca, winning with ease, 78 to 67.

It may seem premature to concede in December a race that is scheduled to run until March 1, but for the under-capacity crowd that watched the Tigers make one ghastly mistake after another against the under-size midshipmen, the handwriting was on the wall. The Lions' one-sided triumph away from home against one of the two teams considered likely to give them a run for the title changed the handwriting from lower case to large capital letters that won't blur even for an advanced case of myopia.

In a day when most teams can start at least two good players who range somewhere between 6-6 and 6-10, Navy took the floor with one man 6-6 and three others who actually average less than six feet. The middies were 3-0 but they had won them all at home from less-than average competition (Harvard, Penn, American University), and the only basic qualities they have going for them are hustle and discipline.

Playing its first game in Dillon, Princeton did nothing to celebrate the fact that it was back home, facing opposition considerably less talented than the likes of Villanova, Duke and Maryland. Throughout the evening, Tiger errors ranged from wild passes and defense lapses, to faulty close-range shooting and consecutive misses on the first of one-and-one situations.

Christmas Came Early. While the records show that the Tigers won after drawing even with nine seconds left and coming from behind in overtime with one second left on the clock, they were able to do so at all only because a Navy player scored a Princeton field goal when he momentarily lost his sense of direction.

The odd basket was recorded very shortly after the second half began. The version on the play-by-play summary charitably reported that "Provini of Navy scored attempting to rebound a Thomforde shot," but there was little doubt that the Navy guard had actually tapped the ball downward as it bounced off the rim, and had briefly forgotten that his offensive direction had been reversed after half-time. As nearly as memory serves, it was a Dillon Gym first: other players may actually have inadvertently tipped in an attempt to clear the ball, but this effort—aided by a memory lapse—appeared to be intentional, and nothing else through the years has matched it.

THIS ONE BROUGHT THE TIGERS EVEN: Sophomore Eric Neuman's layup with nine seconds left put Saturday's game with Navy into overtime at 44-all. Tigers then erased eight-point deficit in extra period to win, 56-55.

The home team led occasionally during the slowpaced first half, took a one-point lead with 51 seconds left and then left the floor trailing 23-22 when Navy's Jack Conrad popped a short jumper that no one bothered to defend. Provini's basket for Princeton proved, fascinatingly enough, to be the only field goal credited to the Tigers until John Hummer tipped in a follow shot after seven minutes and 22 seconds had gone by. During that time, they made a lone foul.

Navy displayed a somewhat superior brand of ball in the constantly sloppy contest, once moving out to a five-point lead before Princeton closed the gap at 42-all. The visitors added a pair of free throws but just as the clock was run ning out, Tom Chestnut fed Eric Neuman for the field goal that created a 44-all tie.

Six Point Lead, 1:36 to Go. More Princeton errors aided Navy in moving out to a 54-46 lead with less than two minutes of the five-minute extra session remaining. With 1:36 to go, however, 6-6 John Seeley of the midshipmen fouled out and took the pot of glue with him.

Despite its seemingly insurmountable lead, Navy proceeded to come apart, passing erratically and shooting when there was no need. A Princeton all-court press helped, as did pressure-packed, inaccurate foul-shooting by the visitors.

In the next 90 seconds, Hummer made a foul, Neuman hit on a jumper, Hummer added a three-point play and John Arbogast sank a 30-foot set shot to narrow the gap to 55-54, Navy. A wild pass gave the Tigers possession with 16 seconds left and with the game about to end, Petrie hit on a jump shot from the foul line.

Biggest debit for Princeton was the fact that Captain Chris Thomforde was having such a poor night that Coach Pete Carril benched him for the final 18 minutes of action. He was 1 for 7 from the floor, and far off form on his rebounding against far smaller players.

Despite his game-winning basket, Petrie played the poorest game of his Princeton career, hitting on 3 of 12 and making only 6 points prior to the climactic field goal. Virtually all of the slack was taken up by Hummer, who accounted for half of Princeton's points with 28. This, however, he will not be able to do against normal-sized opposition whenever Petrie and Thomforde are subpar.

Four in Double Figures. For the first time this season, the Tigers put four of their starters in double figures — Petrie (24), Bill Sickler (19), Hummer (13) and Thomforde (10) all making it against Maryland. Even Borga with 6 was not far away as Coach Pete Carril went 10 minutes with just five men.

The Tigers started slowly, trailed by half a dozen points in this early going but then were aided when both Petrie and Hummer began to hit with good regularity. Hummer was doing a top job a guarding 6-8 Will Hetzel, whose 20 point average he pared to 13.

It was 37-29 for the Tigers at the intermission and they were rarely in trouble during the final half, leading at one time by as many as 19 points. Their rebounding was markedly below par but a shooting average of 46% compared to 36% for the lowers was the key to victory. It was a 72-63 final.

The Tigers were also far better at the foul line than they had been in the loss to Duke, converting on 16 of 22 for 73%.

Hockey Tourney To Begin Friday

The 21st annual Lawrenceville Invitation Hockey Tournament, featuring two Canadian and six American prep school teams, will begin Friday morning.

Baker Rink will be the site of the championship game at 2:30 Saturday, for the Piel Memorial Trophy. Preceding the climactic contest will be the consolation final, scheduled for 11 a.m. at Baker.

Nichols School of Buffalo, N. Y., last year's runnerup; Ridley College of Ontario, and the Lawrenceville School are the only repeaters from the 1967 Tournament.

The rest of the field includes: Belmont Hill, Mass.; Choate School, Wallingford, Conn.; Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Conn.; Trinity-Pawling School, N. Y.; and the University of Toronto Schools.

Belmont Hill, Nichols, Ridley and University of Toronto Schools are the seeded teams for the 1969 tournament. There will be games at Baker Rink and Lawrenceville's Rink on Friday, during the morning, afternoon and evening.

Sports In Princeton

The overall degree of polish was not impressive, but in light of the showing by the new backcourt pair and the fact that the performance brought the first victory of the season, it was a satisfactory evening.

New York University's first visit to Dillon Gym was on the schedule for Wednesday night. (For the story on Tuesday's game with Rutgers at New Brunswick, see page 40.)

TRENTON HERE FRIDAY

For Key Basketball Game. In losing its first game to Ewing last week, 61-43, a score which in no way reflected the contest, the Princeton High basketball team left more questions unanswered than it answered.

There were glimmerings in the opener that PHS coach Larry Ivan may have something this season. But each time the team's potential appeared to surface, it was overcome up by a combination of poor shooting, poor defense and poor passing.

The play of both teams was generally shabby, a portion of it accountable to first-game jitters. But there will be no easy games that will allow the Little Tigers to pull themselves together. Ahead are two difficult teams — Trenton and Plainfield.

For psychological reasons it is important that PHS win at least one of these two. Last year, in back-to-back encounters, Trenton trounced PHS 116-70, and Plainfield nearly outscored the Blue and White two to one in winning 100 to 57.

Princeton never recovered from this twin throttling. It went on to lose its next 10 straight and experience the disaster of a 3-19 season.

The key seems to be Trenton. Like Princeton, Trenton opened in its opener that it has problems it must overcome especially in its defensive play and outside shooting. Under its new coach, Jim Schlimm, the Tornadoes, longtime scourge of Mercer County teams, opened up a 22-11 first quarter lead over Ferris High School. But the visitors from Jersey City came on to outscore Trenton in the next three quarters to win, 53-48. Trenton was guilty of excessive fouling and, indeed, the 19-8 advantage Ferris had on the foul line was the difference between defeat and victory.

Mixed Feelings. Ivan has mixed feelings about the performance of his players following the Ewing contest. He cited them for hanging on against the taller Ewing Squad but he couldn't stop from observing that his players seemed to forget everything they had been working on in practice.

Princeton played like an actor who has come on stage and forgotten his lines. Time and again it passed the ball around, constantly looking for the open shot. But too often the excessive ball handling only ended in a turnover instead of two points.

Still, despite the breakdowns, PHS had some pluses, too. Its slow play forced Ewing to adopt its style which Ewing coach Emil Wandinshin admitted later. With its two big men of Dave Cuyler and Al Harms, Ewing had expected to control the boards, and set a fast pace. Instead, Cuyler got only two rebounds in the first half and the play was far from fast.

Billy Brocks showed he can still shoot. He hit on one-handed jumpers from outside, scoring six points in each of the second and third quarters when PHS was still very much in the game. He finished with 18, high for PHS.

Johnny Madden gave signs of a second standout year. His performance under the boards despite his 5-11 height was not to be faulted. Seven of his 13 points came in the second quarter when PHS regained the lead. The high spot for Johnny and the team came with 2:35 remaining in the half.

After a basket by Brooks had brought PHS to within one, 17-16, Madden fought like a demon under the boards for a rebound. Two of his shots missed. He managed to grab the ball again away from the taller Ewing defenders. He then scored with an over the head layup with his back to the basket, rooked on the play as well, his three-point play gave PHS the lead again, 19-17.

Still in Game. As late as 2:58 to go in the game, PHS trailed by three, 42-39. Then Ewing ran off seven straight to build a 10-point margin and that was it.

In the end, it was the relentless pressure of Ewing's two big men that caused PHS to crack. The presence of Cuyler finally took its toll. That and a court press that varied from three-quarters to full which caused PHS a lot of trouble bringing the ball up. Ewing stole the ball at least 10 times.

Particulary pesky was Jim Vogelsong, backcourt leader for Ewing, who stole the ball repeatedly and was adept in tying up ball handlers. He finished with 13 points.

PHS newcomers Fritz Loats and Tim Taggart didn't fare too well. Each scored two points. Each seemed to be indecisive in the first game, as if fighting the normal instinct to dribble and shoot, which is counter to Ivan's strategy.

Jimmy Miller scored four points and Bill Nelson three in limited action. Nelson's passing was in contrast to the substandard PHS passing that went on most of the evening. Chris Haring, who started the game, finished with one point.

Overall, Princeton looked much better than last year's team. In holding Ewing until the final minutes of play, one might say the defeat was a moral victory for PHS. It showed it could match a team picked by many to be one of the best in this area, basket for basket.

If Princeton starts to shoot better, if as Ivan said after the Ewing contest, "if they had run their plays better," if PHS can tighten up on defense, something Ivan has always stressed, if the team can jell as a unit. . .

That's a lot of ifs, but none of them seems to be insoluble at this point.

SKATERS BEATEN TWICE

By Army and Colgate, 3 to 1. The Princeton hockey team's chances of matching last year's successful season began to wane last week when the Tigers were defeated by two of the more run-of-the-mill sextets in the east.

In a pair of games played away from home, Army and Colgate both topped the Orange and Black by identical scores of 3 to 1. Like the man who wrote the book of sports cliches said, they can't stick the puck in the ocean.

At West Point, Princeton missed several open cage opportunities against a cadet team which they had demolished in Baker Rink last winter, 9 to 3. Not only that, but the Tiger freshmen blanked the Army plebes a year ago, 5 to 0.

Last week's score accordingly gives renewed emphasis to the fact that the small number of players who graduated (four) took most of the quality with them. It may be a considerably longer season than had been anticipated.

Army got the first goal, Jon Taylor tied it for the Tigers when they were a man long, but that was all the scoring they could manage. Both teams had numerous additional opportunities, the cadets cashed in on two of them, Princeton on none.

At Hamilton, N.Y., Saturday, the Tigers took an early but brief lead, again on a goal by Taylor. It came at 5:33 of the opening period but melted within seconds as the home team got the first of its three scores.

Princeton was even going into the second round but Colgate beat goalie Middy Tilghman once in each of the last two periods to earn a 4-2 record on the year. Clear indication of the Tigers' weakness on offense is the fact that the victors' goalie had only 18 saves.

PHS SKATERS TOPPLED

By Lawrenceville. Princeton High School proved to be no match for home team Lawrenceville Friday in the opening hockey game for both schools.

Called a well-drilled team by PHS coach John Post — something the Little Tigers had no hope of matching in view of the few practices they had prior to the opener — Lawrenceville skated to a lopsided 11-1 victory. Wing Chris Gartner, whom Post singled out for his offensive play, was the lone Little Tiger to score.

"They were just too strong for us at this point in the season "commented Post. "We just couldn't get an attack off the ground.

"On the whole," he added, "the team didn't do as badly as the score indicated. We're coming along. The team still has good spirit. What we need is a little more work and a little more ice time."

The team will break for the holiday before resuming January 7 against Summit Hockey Club. That contest will be held at the Princeton Day School rink.

WRESTLERS AT ND

In Thursday Match. In the third dual meet of the season — and its third on the road — Princeton High School's wrestling team will face Notre Dame High School Thursday evening at 8. A jayvee match set for 6:30 will precede the varsity bout in the Irish gym.

PHS coach Tom Murray reported that he knew little about the Notre Dame squad where coach Bill Munley is starting his first season. Munley, a basketball and wrestling referee in the area, is a former high school wrestler from the coal regions of Pennsylvania.

PHS Edged by Ewing. In its opening match of the season Friday at Ewing, PHS started strong when Mark Evans pinned his man in the 98-pound class. The Little Tigers finished even stronger as Nick Arcaro (168) pounds), Chris Mislow (178) and heavyweight LonJohn Rossi all pinned their opponents in the final three matches.

In the middle eight bouts, however, PHS managed to win only one — the 130-pound division where captain Hank Wilkinson, wrestling two weights above his 115-pound level, scored an easy decision. The four pins and Hauk's decision added up to 23 points — two less than the 25 compiled by Ewing.

The Blue Devils managed only one pin, that coming in the 115-pound class where captain Fred Johnson pinned Princeton's Tom Evans. "We need to work on our middle weights," said Murray. "If we could have won just one of those bouts, we would have won."

Two PHS wrestlers who went down to defeat had been weakened after bouts with the flu, said Murray. There were 103-pounder Dave McDonald, and 157-pounder Maury Peabody. Both lost decisions.

HUN FIVE COLD

But It Wins Opener, 58-48. Hampered by a cold-shooting first half, which found it in front of Solebury by only four points, heavily favored Hun Saturday came on to outscore the home team 13-4 in the third quarter and go on to win its first victory of the season. The final score: Hun 58, Solebury 48.

"We were a little rusty" said Hun coach Dave Lette. "We were cold shooting. I think we shot 31 percent overall. But I think it will come a little better," he added.

Following Tuesday's scheduled game here against Germantown Friends, Hun ended its court activity for the holidays. It will resume January 8 at Perkiomen.

Mike Maguire and Don Silverson were the 1-2 of Hun's offensive punch. The two combined for 38 points, Maguire sinking 21. Mike Rossi added seven and reserve Dick Em-bley tossed in eight more.

Hun is 1-0 in the Penn-Jersey League, where area rival Pennington School is 2-0. Pennington, led by former Princeton Day School student, Frank Andrews, who hit for 27 points, won its second, 60-47, over Bryn Athyn.

PDS ELECTS CAPTAINS

In Varsity Football. Lew Bowers, Erik Heggen and Jack Kilgore will captain the Princeton Day School football team next fall as it begins its first season as a member of the Penn-Jersey League.

Heggen played virtually every minute of the season at quarterback, and should give the Panthers plenty of experience at that key position next year. Bowers and Kilgore held down interior line positions on offense, the former at guard, the latter at center, and also saw action on defense.

Coach Dan Barren awarded 20 letters to the squad, which compiled a 4-4 mark this season, up from 2-6 a year ago. Recipients included; the three co-captains, Ashby Adams, Keith Bash and Craig Page; Criclton Adams, Terry Booth, Bowers, David Claghorn, Ed Cole, Jeremy Dunning, Heggen, Carl Jacobelli, Calvin Johnson, Rick Judge, Kilgore, Peter McCandless, Ken McGregor, Kirk Moore, Bob Peck, Tom Spain and Gil Farr, manager.

Returning lettermen next year will number 10, assuming no one leaves, which should provide a good nucleus. Crictlon Adams, Booth, Moore and Heggen will give the Panthers a solid backfield; rebuilding the line will require more work.

NCA, BORO UNDEFEATED

In YMCA Basketball League. Defending champion NCA and Boro, a new entry this year, recorded their third victories last week to remain undefeated atop the standings of the YMCA Research and Industrial basketball league.

Bones Gilbert tallied 18 points for NCA in its 68-46 triumph over RCA. Ted Nygee and Tom Connelly had 14 and 13, respectively, for the losers. Charlie Madden's 16 points led Boro over American Cyanamid, 61-50. Cyanamid's Bill Brown took individual honors with 20 markers.

ETS broke into the win column, nipping EAI-POR, 42-39. ETS' Don Gourley and Bob Bradshaw of the losers both pumped in 20 points. FMC fell from the ranks of the unbeaten, losing to a sharp shooting ERC quintet, 93-63. Charles Marinko put on a one-man show for the winners pouring in 42 points, while John Dixon of FMC had to settle for second place honors with 31.

The first forfeit of the season went to the Boys Club over the Hospital. Boys Club is now in third at 2-0, followed by FMC in fourth, 2-1, Cyanamid, 1-1; RCA, ERC, and ETS, all at 1-2; and EAI-POR and Hospital at 0-3.

STREAK CONTINUES

For St. Paul's in Basketball. In basketball circles, the talk these days centers on who will lose first UCLA or the St. Paul's School team in the Mercer County Catholic Youth Organization League.

Led by the incomparable Kevin Tyler, the Nassau Street quintet pushed their consecutive victory streak to seven last week, drubbing Incarnation School, 47-32, and nipping Our Lady of Sorrows, 47-44. A win over St. Anthony's on Saturday will give St. Paul's a clean sweep over the much larger Northern division teams, before starting the second half of the schedule.

Against Incarnation, the victors built up a 22-8 halftime advantage and then toyed with the losers for the rest of the game, letting them come with in nine points in the third period, before pulling away on a series of fast breaks, engineered by gurads Guy Perone and Dan Coluccio. The two shared 19 points.

Hampered by an ankle injury in the opening minutes of play, Tylus only managed to throw in 16, high for the game. He and Guy Bertone were instrumental in controlling the boards in spite of their opponents' height advantage.

In the OLOS contest, Tylus showed moments of brilliance, tossing in 12 points as St. Paul's jumped out to a 17-9 first period lead. Our Lady was not to be counted out, however, and throwing up a tough defense, she shut down on St. Paul's attack and forged ahead, 36-30, at the end of three periods.

Lacking only Lew Alcindor's height, but none of his moves, Tylus snook off the double teaming efforts of the opposition and pumped in five quick buckets to put St. Paul's back in front again. However, his fine play all over the court finally took its toll, and Tylus fouled out with two minutes remaining.

Sensing a new lease on life OLOS reclaimed the lead, and St. Paul's fell behand by three. At this point, Perone stepped into Tylus' shoes and filled the hero's role, stealing the ball twice, and scoring six important points. Guy Bertone and Mark Levesseur garnered important rebounds for St. Paul's.

Despite fouling out with two minutes left, Tylus poured in a fantastic 26 points, more than 50% of his team's total output.

TIGERS LOSE BY 1

To Rutgers, 61-60. A charging foul against Geoff Petrie with five seconds to go gave Rutgers' basketball team the opportunity it needed Tuesday night. Bob Greacen making the first of two free throws to give the Scarlet a 61-60 triumph. The victory was the first it had scored over the Tigers on its home court in a decade and half.

Rutgers' ability to hold 6-8 John Hummer to seven points, far below the 21 he has averaged this season, was a decisive factor in the outcome. It was frustrating for the visitors, inasmuch as Captain Chris Thomforde playing his first good game in five, contributed 21. Petrie had the same total, but the scoring from the back court was a meagre 4 for 20.

The home team was in front virtually all evening, Princeton overcoming an early 6-2 deficit to take a 16-15 lead but falling behind again almost immediately. It was 32-28 for the Scarlet at the half.

When action resumed, Rutgers continued to take charge, steadily increasing its margin until it led, 52-37, with less than nine minutes left. The capacity crowd of 2,700 was enjoying every minute.

Petrie and Thomforde then paced a Princeton surge, which culminated with a short jumper by the Tiger captain that created a 60-all tie. There were 16 seconds left.

Rutgers called time out, brought the ball down court and Greacen shot from the side. His effort was short but Petrie barged into him and Greacen sank the first of two with five seconds left.

The defeat dropped the Tigers to 2-3 on the season. Following Wednesday's game with NYU, they will be idle until December 27 when they face Holy Cross at Madison Square Garden in the Holiday Tournament.

SKATERS BLANKED, 4-0

By Clarkson on Tuesday. Its fifth loss — and first shutout — were administered to Princeton's hockey team here Tuesday night by a fine Clarkson sextet which raised its season's record to 5-1-1. Only Boston College has been able to trim the New York State skaters.

The visitors got the only goal they needed while they were a man short in the first period. A Tiger defenseman, trying to keep the puck inside the Clarkson blue line, fell down and wing Tom Deacon went in on goalie Maddy Topham alone for a tuck-in shot in the left corner.

Two more scores followed in the same period, and after adding a fourth in round two, the victors shut down until the final buzzer. They kept the hottest sort of pressure on Tilghman all evening, constantly intercepting Princeton passes and battering away at the Tiger goal with little interruption. Only a stick-out game by Tilghman prevented the score from at least doubling.

Princeton's immature offense was again reflected in the shot totals: three on goal in each of the first two periods. The losers raised this figure to seven in the final round, but had a man advantage (or better) during most of the final five minutes and still could not avert a whitewashing. They were two men up for 45 seconds, but failed to produce.

The ECAC Tournament in Boston will occupy them this weekend. Defending champions, they will open with Boston College. Cornell and New Hampshire are the other two entries.

LITTLE TIGERS LOSE

In Basketball, 68-52. A dismal first quarter, during which it could score only 3 points while yielding 11, got Princeton High School's basketball team off on the wrong foot against Franklin Township Tuesday. The Little Tigers were beaten, 68-52, after trailing, 28-15, at the half.

Billy Brooks (16), John Madden (15) and Tim Taggart (10) made it into double figures for the losers. They outscored their conquerors, 23-20, in the final period, the only one of four in which they managed to do so.

HUN VICTOR, 73-66

Over Germantown Friends. A 25-point performance by Heun Sreecker paced Hun School's basketball team to a 73-66 triumph over Germantown Friends Tuesday. The victory was the Red and Black's second in as many starts.

Mike Maguire contributed 16 points to the cause as the victors' fast-breaking tactics kept them in control throughout. They had a 37-31 lead at the half and were in front by 59-46 at the three-quarter mark in the Penn-Jersey League contest.

PHS WRESTLERS BLANKED

By North Hunterdon. The top wrestling power in the Central New Jersey area, North Hunterdon High School, won every match against Princeton High Tuesday night to triumph, 43-0.

Chris Mislow of the Little Tigers made the best showing, losing to his 178-lb opponent on a slim time advantage. Hank Wilkinson, ace of the squad, was sidelined by illness.

BOWLING NOTES

A League Tightens. Balestrieri failed to win any points last week in the A League and as a result its 8-point margin has melted to two, 58-56, over Ivy Inn. One point back in third place is Antler's, while Smith Book Bindry and Applegarth Inn have 48 each.

Bill Bathie of eighth place Princeton Inn leveled the most pins—222 on games of 238-221-171. Jerry Perpetua had 234, Tom Sculerati 233, Ken Eible 227, Joe Procaccini 224, and Mike Pinelli 222. Grouped between 215 and 200 were Dick Fowler, Sam Lisi, Nick Sculerati, Vince Gregg, Ed Duncan, Doug Renfroe, Don Snyder, Bill Murphy and Fran Cawley.

Harold Davall fell from a 236 to 167-181 for a 584 series in the Tri-County Firemen's League. Ed Hughes rolled a 236 and Ray Mount a 223. Jack Zimsmester, Elmer Wilson, Vince Sassman, Al Wright and

POLICE TO SPONSOR

Junior Rifle Program. A junior rifle club program sponsored by the Princeton Patrolmen's Benevolent Association will start January 4 and meet every alternate Saturday morning thereafter through June 7. Open to boys and girls 12 and older from the Princeton area, the program will be held at the Citizens Rifle and Revolver Club on the Princeton-Hightstown Road.

Before a youngster can participate, parents must sign a permission slip. These slips may be obtained at police headquarters in the Township and Borough.

The program will run from 9 to 12 noon. All rifles and facilities will be provided; ammunition will be purchased by the shooter at the range at a cost of 25 cents for 20 shots. Personal rifles — bolt type, single shot only — brought to the range must be in a gun case with the bolt removed.

The instructors will be Lt. Richard Steiner of the Township police and William Reitze, Renato Carazzai and Robert W. Westover of the Citizens Rifle and Revolver Club. All are certified National Rifle Association instructors. NRA rifle markmanship pins and certificates will be awarded by the sponsor.

The program consists of attaining markmanship with the .22 caliber target rifle at 50 feet on NRA approved targets. Participants will be assigned to one of three classifications: beginner, intermediate or expert.

Further information is available from Township police at 921-2100.

HOPEWELL NOT QUITTING

Renews Fight Against I-95. Shutout at the state level, the rallying cry is now "on to the federal courts," as Hopewell Township continues to press its fight to alter the alignment of Interstate Route 95.

At its meeting last Thursday, the township committee unanimously approved a decision directing attorney Edward Meredith to draw up an appeal to the Federal District Court in Trenton, asking for an injunction halting any construction of the route has already begun.

Several residents present for the meeting applauded the committee's action, which apparently will be undertaken without regard to the continuation of support from Piscataway and Franklin Townships, the two municipalities which had fought the alignment with Hopewell up till now. Neither had reached a decision to continue in its part of the suit, when the committee met.

Mr. Meredith said the township should initiate its appeal within 30 days after the notification by the State Supreme Court November 26 that it had refused to hear the case. The ruling was made October 15, but Hopewell was not notified officially until six weeks later due to a clerical error.

Hopewell is seeking to have the superhighway rerouted through Lawrence and West Windsor townships, between Route One and the New Jersey Turnpike, joining with the turnpike at Exit 8A. As it now stands, the township will lose several hundred acres of residential and farm land to highway right-of-way and interchanges.

NEW COURSES ADDED

NEW OFFICE PLANNED To Include Covered Garage. The Twenty-Two Chambers Street office building addition, to be constructed in the near future, has been designed to include the Borough's first covered garage.

The addition planned by Dr. Donald A. Pickering, will consist of three floors of office space totalling 13,500 square feet, and two floors of Parking garage, enabling tenants and visitors to move under cover between their cars and offices.

According to Hans K. Sander, of Walker Sander Ford & Kerr, architects for the project, the addition will be the first structure in the Borough to provide all required parking on the site.

The office addition, to be constructed to concrete, brick and heat-resistant glass by the Trenton firm of William C. Ehret, is the first project to pass the new site review procedure of the Borough Planning Board.

RESEARCH AWARD GIVEN To Union Camp Scientist. Dr. Keith Bradway, 30 Pin Oak Drive, Lawrence Township, has been chosen as the recipient of the Hugh D. Camp Award for achievement in scientific research at Union Camp Corporation.

Dr. Bradway received a citation certificate and a $2,000 check from Dr. William Aiken, vice-president of research and development for Union Camp Corporation, at the firm's annual Christmas party at the Princeton Inn.

Born in Indianapolis, Indiana, Dr. Bradway received a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering from Purdue University, and a PhD from the Institute of Paper Chemistry.

He joined Union Camp in 1953 at the firm's mill in Franklin, Va., and has been associated with the Princeton laboratory for six years.

SALES RISE 9% At American Cyanamid. American Cyanamid has reported that it expects to join the "Billion Dollar Club" this year with sales of $1,015,000,000 to $1,020,000,000, an increase of almost nine per cent.

Earnings for the current year will reach a range of $1.90 to $1.95 per share, compared with $1.59 a year ago, according to Clifford D. Siverd, president. Without the tax surcharge, the 1968 figure would be about 13 cents higher he said.

Mr. Siverd attributed the higher earnings to the rise in sales volume and a reduction in unit manufacturing costs. The building and consumer products segment will account for about 24 per cent of the total company sales this year, against 22 per cent in 1967, and only eight per cent in 1960. The earnings increase was achieved "despite further erosion" in some selling prices, continued increase in the costs of doing business, and the tax surcharge.

ACHIEVEMENT REWARDED AT UNION CAMP: Dr. Keith Bradway (left) is congratulated by Dr. William Aiken, vice-president of research and development at Union Camp Corporation. The first recipient of the firm's Hugh D. Camp award for singular achievement, Dr. Bradway received a citation and a check for $2,000.

BACH PROGRAM DELIGHTS

Under Scheide's Direction. There is no end to the variety and beauty of Bach's music. For evidence, I submit the credentials of the renowned Bach Aria Group heard at McCarter Theatre on Monday evening.

Under William H. Scheide's guiding hand and consummate knowledge of Bach's works, the Bach Aria Group presented a program of Recitatives, Arias and Chorales from the vast literature of Bach Cantatas. Performing on the program were Samuel Baron, flute; Robert Bloom, oboe; Norman Farrow, bass baritone; Maureen Forester, alto; Bernard Greenhouse, violoncello; Richard Lewis, tenor; Lois Marshall, soprano; Oscar Shumsky, violin; and Yehudi Wyner, piano continuo. All members of this ensemble have distinguished themselves nationally, as well as internationally, as the case may be. The performances Monday night, for the most part, displayed the best that these gifted artists have to offer.

The artistry of Robert Bloom knows no bounds. He is one of the superlative oboists of the world and his brilliant musicianship was felt in every bar of his playing.

The many duets and trios Bach composed in his arias present the instruments on an equal level with the vocalist. The amazing thing about Mr. Bloom's performance is his ability to control his big tone, maintain the long line, in a broad singing style while supporting the singer with impeccable rhythm and intonation.

Troiy Magnificent. Bach's use of cello for the most part was intended to serve as the bass line for these arias, yet when Bernard Greenhouse is the cellist, you hear how truly magnificent these melodic lines are. Of course, there were important musical solos for the cello as well. One on the lovliest was heard with the performance of the Aria for Alto, flute, cello and continuo from Cantata 69a.

Miss Forester, no stranger to Princeton concertgoers, was her usual exemplary self, with a rich dark tone to go with her intelligent musicianship. Everything sounds clear when she sings and Monday night's interpretations were no exception.

The variety alluded to in the opening comment of this review is evident in the contrasting nature of these cantata arias. There is much good natured humor to be found, as in the bass aria from the A Major Mass with violin and continuo in the bass aria from the A Major Mass with violin and continuo in the supporting contrapuntal role which was then followed on the program by the pathos and tenderness of the soprano aria with oboe, piano and continuo from the 12th cantata.

The program was arranged very well, with the quartet of solo voices being used in contrast with occasional mixing. Yet despite this, there appeared to be too much of a good thing going here, for the concert indeed was too long.

Miss Marshall, the soprano, was not in good voice this evening. She had difficulty shaping her sound and failed to maintain a consistent fine quality for which she is well known.

Mr. Baron plays well, but his flute sound seemed to these ears to be almost too light. Perhaps this would appear unfair to Mr Baron who usually followed Mr. Bloom's oboe playing. Oscar Shumsky is a solid violinist with a broad, sweeping tone, and his performances were outstandingly secure and strong.

It was good to have the Bach Aria Group return to Princeton.

— Arno Safran

WE SING FOR CHRISTMAS

Princeton High Choir. The sacred music of Christmas will be offered by ten vocal and instrumental groups from the Princeton High School Music Department at the annual winter concert this Thursday in the Princeton University Chapel at 8 p.m.

The combined vocal and instrumental departments comprise about 350 students.

The concert will begin as "Veni, Veni, Emmanuel" is chanted in unison by the Male Chorus from the balcony of the Chapel.

The Male Chorus will then sing "Oculus non Vidit" by Orlandus Lassus and the "Angelas Ad Pastores Ait" of Claudio Monteverdi.

Enter Woodwinds. Then the Woodwind Ensemble, in the chancel, will play the Prayer from "Hansel and Gretel" and Leroy Anderson's "Suite of Carols." The Freshman Girls Chorus will sing "Gloria" by Guillermus Dufay, the traditional "Shepherds, Shake Off Your Drowsy Sleep!" and Kodaly's "Christmas Dance of the Shepherds."

The sixteen members of the Princeton High School Choir known as the Madrigal Singers, will sing three traditional songs in madrigal style: "The Shepherd's Carol" by William Billings, Praetorius' "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming" and "What Child is This?"

The Girls Chorus will offer "Jubilate Deo Omis Terra" of Flor Peeters and at the conclusion of the "Jubilate," the Princeton High School Choir will enter the chancel in candlelight procession, as the "Entrata Festive" of Peeters is performed by the Brass Quartet and the organ.

Peeter's processional march will then be performed jointly by organ, Brass Quartet and Choir.

The Choir itself will sing Scarlatti's "Exultate Deo" and the first four movements of the Mass of Francois Poulenc.

Festival of Lights

A Hanukkah Family Service will be held at 7.15 p.m. this Friday in the Princeton Jewish Center, Leading Rabbi Reeve Brenner.

Hanukkah, the eight day Festival of Lights, began at sundown on Sunday. The festival recalls the rebellion of Matathias and his five sons against the political and religious persecution of Antiochus Epiphanes, Syrian ruler of the Greek empire in the Middle East more than 2,000 years ago.

The Maccabees were victorious and in cleansing the Holy Temple in Jerusalem found a lamp with oil sufficient to last only one day. The lamp burned for eight days, and this has become the basis for the festival.

ON BUILDING A CHURCH

In The Suburbs. The time has long gone when a church group could select a piece of land and build a church subject only to the size of the mortgage it could raise.

The Princeton Church of Christ is involved in yet another attempt to build a church for its present congregation of some 115 members. It has conducted worship services in the Shrine Club on River Road for the past five years.

"It seems that the only time we get into the newspaper, is when we want to build a church," the pastor, Rev. Kreig Boothe, said ruefully on Tuesday.

In April 1967, the church dropped negotiations for a building and 2½ acre lot on Van Dyke Road, owned by Mrs. Anne S. Stockton. Four neighbors had placed in the hands of an attorney a court appeal to block the Township Zoning Board decision granting the church restricted use of the property.

The neighbors dissent, as stated at the zoning meeting, centered on a basic unwillingness to have another institution in their residential area. Objections were raised to additional traffic, in view of the existing flow from All Saints' Chapel, the Italian American Sportsmen's Club, Opin on Research and the Princeton Shopping Center.

CAR RANSACKED

Suitcase Stolen. An employee of Alderman & Click, real estate and insurance firm at 9 Spring Street, told Borough police Friday that his car was broken into and ransacked while it was parked on Spring Street.

Jack Sinkay reported that a suitcase containing men's clothing was taken from his car between 2:45 and 3 in the afternoon. He gave no value on it. Pfc. Timothy Hutsing, the investigating officer, said that the thief apparently slipped a lock to enter the car.

Snowball Missiles. Someone threw snowballs at the small foreign car of Mrs. Michael Pinelli, 245 Washington Road, Penns Neck, late Saturday night as she was driving on Washington Road near Ivy Lane.

Her husband called police the next morning. He said the snowballs had cracked the car's windshield.

Now again, the church proposes to buy property on River Road, at the end of Princeton Kingston Road, from Mrs. Maude Gilmer. The land borders the Millstone. Flood control and open space are the issues being raised by several neighbors.

When the church appeared informally before the Township planning board two months ago. The board requested more specific plans and topographical information.

The church hired an architect, had the property surveyed and returned to the Planning Board with the architect's plot plan. The board suggested that it would be agreeable to fill in certain areas, grading from zero at the stream to a required elevation at the north side of the River Road end where the church planned to build. It told the church it would make these recommendations to the Zoning Board and to the state, which must give approval to fill.

According to Mr. Boothe, several neighbors have inferred that filling in portion of the land will cause additional flood hazards. "We intend to leave two thirds of the land susceptable to flood," the minister says, adding that advisors believe that the fill will help the flood control as will the new bridge when it is built.

As for open space, Mrs. Gilmer, the present owner, has letters from the state saying that it is not interested in the land for a park, according to Mr. Boothe.

Next Moves. The church will appear before the Princeton Zoning Board this Thursday in answer to the request of the Planning Board, it will meet with two of its sub-committees on open space and environmental control sometime in January.

"This is now some project that we are faced with," the minister comments.

The church has tackled other projects. Its membership has grown from 20 to 115 regular worshipers. It conducted a house-to-house "get acquainted" campaign among Princeton negroes, out of which grew the teacher-training sessions held at First Baptist Church for the past year and one-half.

Its women's group works at Merwick and the New Jersey Neuro - Psychiatric Institute. Five students at Princeton Seminary are doing their field education work with the church. It supports an orphan home. And the summer vacation Bible School, which began with 65 children of various denominations, enrolled 300 last summer in classes at the Littlebrook School.

Church of Christ hopes to build a church with a seating capacity of 250, in an auditorium on the street level. Underneath, facing the Millstone, would be 12 or 13 classrooms, including a nursery. Two of the rooms are earmarked for a pre-school nursery, planned for weekday mornings.

"We're a fairly close group as far as social ties are concerned," Mr. Boothe says. The congregation holds many outdoor activities in summer, frequent socials and dinners in the winter. "One of the reasons this property appeals to us is the recreation possibilities."

NOTE: Closing Christmas Eve — Reopening mid-March. Merry Christmas to you all and best wishes for the coming year.

AUTHENTIC ANTIQUITY — The frame part of this old Princeton Township house dates back to Revolutionary times. The larger brick section was built in the early 1800's. The result is a fascinating house with seven bedrooms, a wonderful big center hall (just perfect for greeting all the holiday guests!) and several lovely rooms for entertaining and leisure. An old-fashioned wreath would look marvelous on any of the 5 fireplaces. About 2½ acres of beautiful grounds with large trees and a long winding drive. A perfect picture of grace and charm. Offered at $55,000

EVEN THE ENCHANTED NUTCRACKER wouldn't want to miss this classic Colonial, known as the "General Lee" house. The four working fireplaces are bright and cheery on a cold and wintry eve and the warmth of exposed beams and real wooden panelling give a cozy feeling. Brick and stone construction completely restored in 1965 with such modern conveniences as a kitchen with wall-to-wall carpeting and dishwasher, breakfast room, downstairs powder room, carpeted den. Library, living room and dining room all have a fireplace. Fenced paddock and old barn with stalls and a pond for fishing, boating and of course, ice skating. All of this on approximately 10 acres in nearby Hopewell Township. $72,500

DECK THE HALLS of this wonderful turn-of-the-century house and don't worry if it snows for days! You are right in the middle of town where a brisk walk would do you good and not wear you out! Entrance foyer, two living rooms, each with fireplace, sun porch (heated), large formal dining room, pantry, big family kitchen and powder room all on the first floor. Four double bedrooms and two baths on second floor and a 5th bedroom on the third. There is a finished playroom in the basement if you need space for the ping pong table. A good buy in Princeton's Western Section. $79,500 in fact a veritable grove, make a peaceful setting for this northwest Township home. The pleasant interior consists of a good-sized living room with an interesting stone fireplace and a pretty bay window, dining room, enclosed porch, fine kitchen with eating area, two downstairs bedrooms and tiled bath, two upstairs bedrooms (one is large, the other a magnificent dormitory suite) plus bath, and a big, light, dry cellar with separated space for laundry, play and study.

The second floor makes this house a natural for families with teenagers. And after they have flown the coop, the house can easily be "shrunk" back to a comfortable one-story for the deserted parents! A country feeling combined with enough neighbors for companionship make this a fine spot for children of all ages.

FRUSTRATIONS

My painter is on jury duty and there are things to be done. Some shipments are slow, and one, shipped two months ago, still hasn't arrived. I keep fighting a cold, and my dog Ty is lost. There were hunters around Tuesday, and I hope he was not picked up. If you hear of a stray Bedlington Terrier call me collect.

Business is good, thank heavens! I hope I can get my Christmas shopping done in time and I do wish I could find more time for reading. New merchandise is arriving daily. If your giftee has champagne tastes in the contemporary vein, or for the unusual see

WHEATSHEAF LANE . . . on one of Princeton's loveliest streets, this little gem of a house is ideal for a couple dreaming of retirement. First floor: living room, dining room, modern kitchen with a screened deck just out the back door where one can loiter over a late breakfast and listen to the music of Harry's Brook in the back yard . . . plus 2 bedrooms and a brand new tiled bath. Downstairs: a large recreation room, with bar, with a door to the back yard. The lot is small and easy to maintain, but the trees and shrubs are so luxuriant that they create a privacy which you will prize forever. New refrigerator-freezer and combination washer-dryer are included in the sale . . . also, wall to wall carpeting throughout the house, and some fun-time in the recreation room. (*)
$34,500

NEW COLONIALS . . . built by one of Princeton's most dependable builders, these fine new homes are located among tall trees on a quiet cul-de-sac in West Windsor Township. For commuters, only three minutes away from the railroad station. All six homes will be ready for occupancy in the Spring. 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, family rooms. Now is the time for you to make your choice, while you're still able to choose colors, equipment, etc. Your children will love the area, for there are many playmates in this young neighborhood. By all means, see these fine homes before you decide. Priced in middle 40's.

FOUR BEDROOMS . . . in one of Princeton's most congenial neighborhoods, with plenty of playmates for your children and the public school only a short walk away, here is a contemporary home with a very large living room, modern kitchen, 4 bedrooms and 2 baths. All on one floor — a very desirable feature for people who prefer not to climb stairs when it comes time to retire. In an area luxuriant with trees and shrubbery. Brick patio. Nice back yard.
$42,000

LAWRENCE . . . two-story stone and frame Colonial, located in a fine residential neighborhood with many towering trees. Large living & dining rooms. Lovely new kitchen, plus butler's pantry. Two fireplaces, 6 bedrooms, 4 baths and powder room. Located near a college and across the road from a golf club, this fine home is a place you'll love to live in and always be proud of.
$79,500

BROOKSTONE . . . in one of Princeton's most beautiful wooded areas, this large brick and frame residence, with central air-conditioning, has a spacious foyer, large living room with fireplace, dining room, library with fireplace, modern kitchen, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, powder room and, on the second floor, a huge upstairs family room. Two acres of land, with beautiful trees and shrubs. This is a large house, designed and built for people of means. You'll benefit from all the thoughtful care this fine home has had, and you'll always be thankful for the landscaping which makes the setting so beautiful . . . and so perfect!
$115,000

SUPERB LOCATION . . . on a quiet street in the Western Section, with great shade trees, this fine stone residence was built to endure. No expense was spared in its construction. To replace it today would cost a fortune. The rooms are large, with high ceilings and tall windows. The architecture and proportions will provide the ideal background for your most precious antiques. Six bedrooms, 4 baths, 2 maid's rooms and bath. Powder room on ground floor. Fireplaces in library, living room, dining room and master bedroom. Sited on a large lot, it faces its own lovely garden, and features a big stone terrace for outdoor entertaining. Right now, this is, we believe, the finest large old house available in Princeton. It does things other small cars shouldn't do.

Cornering at high speeds is one of the last things to expect small cars to do, successfully. Unless it's a SAAB, the out-of-the-ordinary small car. Out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves and other drivers' mistakes. Is that all SAAB has? Not on your life. Most ordinary cars don't give you, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features. As an optional extra, our new V-4 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE.
